Selectmen Round-up

Election moved

'Unity Day' approved

BY CHRISTINE KENNEY
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - David O'Mahony, a member of the St. Thomas of Villanova Parish, came before the Board of Selectmen at the Monday, February 25, meeting to request use of the town common on April 7 for a "unity day." The request follows a recent attack by vandals who covered three Wilmington churches with graffiti, the markings of which O'Mahony said and depicted images of "brainwashing." O'Mahony, whose church was of those vandalized, said the incident took place during the night; two funerals were scheduled for the following day.

The board unanimously approved O'Mahony's request. The unity day is supported by many churches within the town and is meant to be a day where members of the community can come for a peaceful rally for the country's freedom to have, or not have, faith.

"The hope is that the rally will be a source of healing for the community, a source

Special Education emerging as major campaign issue

BY SHARON ADELMAN
CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington School Committee race is now down to five potential candidates since Jennifer DeFeo told the Crier Tuesday afternoon she would not be running for election.

Last Wednesday DeFeo pulled papers for School

Committee, in addition to Housing Authority and Shawsheen Tech. She told the Crier she initially pulled papers after speaking with the clerk's office, but could not have run for all three seats concurrently.

DeFeo believes that while her special education advocacy work would not present a direct conflict, "it may create the appearance of bias in certain situations," she wrote in an email to the Crier. Upon a follow-up call from the Crier, DeFeo elaborated: "It is my intent at this time, based on the advice of my attorney, that there are too many perceived conflicts. I don't want to give anyone the impression that I'm using my position on those committees to further my career or to benefit my clients, which is what I'm

On Sequestration, Miceli a moderate voice

Cuts will hit defense industry, widely represented in Tewksbury and Wilmington

BY JON BISHOP
WITH JAYNE MILLER

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY—Intransience in Washington has brought the economy to the brink of "sequester" and, unless any deal is made before March 1, the country will see cuts.

The Crier spoke with State Representative James

Miceli and asked for his thoughts.

"I think it's a rotten shame that the folks in DC can't get their act together," he said. "We in the state house have really worked with Republicans.

"It's not perfect, but we haven't reached any stalemates that affect the public like these cuts do. I feel they should be sitting down, they should be working it out."

He said, he didn't think anyone would "jump" on a deal.

"The Republicans aren't going to move. And, I hope I'm wrong, but I feel the President wants to see that. I feel in the final analysis,

The 3rd Annual All Star Entertainment Fundraiser

To benefit research for rare disorder

By MARCY RAGUCCI
Crier Staff

WILMINGTON - The 3rd Annual All Star Entertainment Night to benefit children with Urea Cycle Disorder will be held this Saturday, March 2, 2013 at 6:00 p.m. at the Danversport Yacht Club, 161 Elliot St. in Danvers, MA. Tickets cost $50 per person and include dinner, dancing, door prizes and more.

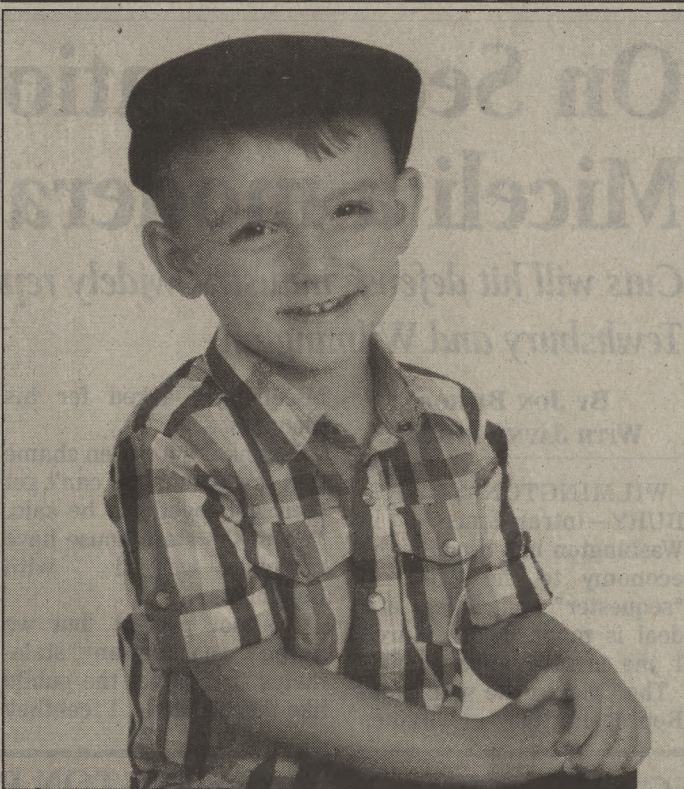

The Allstar Foundation was founded when Wilmington resident Michael Vestal was born with a very rare urea cycle disorder called Argininosuccinic Aciduria. Two years ago Michael's sister, Marisa, was born with the same rare disorder.

The Allstar Foundation For Urea Cycle Disorders, Inc. is a non-profit organization devoted to making a difference in the research, treatment and eventual cure of Urea Cycle Disorders. The foundation's mission is to increase public awareness for UCDs and newborn screening and to educate healthcare professionals regarding the rarity and symptoms of the different disorders, too.

Sadly, this year's event is being held in memory of Michael and Marisa's grandfather, David R. Jackson, who passed away several months ago. Jackson delighted in his grandchildren and supported the Vestal family's efforts to find a cure for their illness.

Last year at a NUCDF (National Urea Cycle Disorder Foundation) conference in Washington, DC, the Vestal Family presented NUCDF President Tresa Warner with a check for $20,000 for NUCDF's Brain Project research from the proceeds of their fundraiser. Tresa thanked the Vestals for their generous donation on behalf of all UCD families. The Vestals announced that they are taking on the challenge of raising twice the amount next year! Their contribution makes a significant impact in supporting new research projects to improve the understanding of the effects of ASA and other urea cycle disorders on the brain. Warner thanked the Vestals for their continuing commitment to help NUCDF accelerate research to improve the quality of life for all those affected with UCD.

Mary Grace Vestal extends

an invitation to the public saying, "Join us for a fun evening and to support a good cause. Tickets include dinner, dancing, door prizes and more. There will also be a raffle, silent auction and a 50/50 raffle. For more information on UCD and the event visit our website www.allstarfoundation-forucd.com."

"Caring for two children with a urea cycle disorder is a lot of work, challenging, and even overwhelming. Michael is now four and Marisa is one. Today, their treatment consists of many doctors' appointments, blood draws, an amino acid replacement, low protein diets, and medication. The future is unknown for the siblings' neurological development, growth, and liver health. It goes without saying that family and friends are committed to finding a cure and could use your help," said Mary Grace.

You may contact the AllStar Foundation for UCD, 125 Federal Street, Wilmington, MA 01887, visit www.allstarfoundation-forucd.com or call Mary Grace Vestal at 978-658-5319 if you would like to become a part of making a difference in the world of Urea Cycle Disorders. All proceeds go to the NUCDF for research on finding a cure.

Town plans capital investments

Warrant articles explained

By CHRISTINE KENNEY
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - At the Board of Selectmen meeting on February 25, Town Manager Jeff Hull reviewed the preliminary draft of the warrant for annual Town Meeting, slated to take place on May 4. The following details the capital requests that are expected to appear on the warrant:

- Four new police cruisers for the Police Department
- One new ambulance for the Fire Department
- One ton cargo van for Public Buildings
- One heavy-duty dump truck, pick-up truck, multi-use tractor, and skid steer for Public Works.
- One transportation van for the School Department

The warrant also asks the town to vote to approve funds for the preparation of conceptual and schematic designs for the development of the Yentile Farm property; the replacement of two oil burning boilers with gas boilers at the North Intermediate School; and the replacement of 9,820 square feet of the roof at West Intermediate School. Additionally, voters are asked to consider approving funds for Public Buildings Department for energy efficiencies, and mechanical structural projects; the repair of the fencing at the North Intermediate School; the purchase of 60 new personal computers for the North and West Intermediate Schools and 55 Smartboards for the middle school; and the purchase of a base communication radio for the Fire Department.

In the article requesting funding for the replacement of all single pane windows and exterior doors with energy efficient units at the North Intermediate School, it states that the town has applied for a school construction grant from the MSBA, which would supplement the approximately $804,000 that was approved by Town Meeting in 2012.

The project's full cost, including the already approved funds, would come to approximately $1,478,000. If awarded the grant, the town would need to incur the additional cost of the project, which the MSBA would reimburse.

The warrant also lists an article asking voters to approve fingerprint based criminal history checks to be conducted at the Wilmington Police Station for individuals applying for certain licenses, such as ice cream truck vendors and dealers of second-hand articles. According to Police Chief Michael Begonis, who was in attendance at the meeting, this type of check would allow the department to see a person's state and federal history.

According to Hull, the Board of Selectmen will be asked to vote on a more finalized version of the warrant on March 11. He also noted that the next draft will have specific costs detailed in the articles.

Letters to the editor

Broussard thanks supporters

Dear Residents of Wilmington,
Thank you so much to the many people who signed my nomination papers for Wilmington School Committee. Our Town Clerk has certified those papers which officially puts my name on the ballot. I'd especially like to thank those who made introductions and went the extra mile to help me.

As we all know, our school system is facing many challenges and I would like to be part of the team guiding our community through those challenges. Thank you again for your support and please vote on April 27th.

Sincerely,
Julie Broussard
Wilmington

Thanks from Author

Dear Editor,
Many times people can quickly complain about something...I don't know why that is. However, this is to let you know how impressed I was with Sharon Adelman's effort on her article about my writing. She was; thorough, listened well, captured my input, created a nice article, and kept me informed. I have already heard from several classmates and friends about the article, and feel honored my hometown newspaper cares enough about former members of the town to create a front-page story. Thank you to you for assigning the article to her, and thank you (Town Crier) for publishing it. If only the world around us was caring too. Best to you and yours, Rich (aka Dick C Waters)

Cooke's Inspirational series

Dear Editor,
I don't have a computer to send my comments, but wanted to let you know how much I enjoyed Rick Cooke's piece about Hugh Wiberg. It was inspirational and well done. I missed part I in the series, but think you idea is a good one. Human interest articles make a newspaper, as well as the latest news. Thanks for sharing. Sincerely, Margery Spear Wilmington

Judy Lee thanks Wildcats for ALS Fundraiser

Dear Editor,
My family and I will forever be grateful to the so many wonderful people for the extraordinary ALS fundraising efforts throughout the year, and especially on Saturday afternoon at the WHS Boys ALS Benefit Hockey Game. As it would be impossible to thank and recognize each person individually, there are a few people that I personally would like to acknowledge. Forever and always, my deepest thanks to my loving, devoted family. My husband Rich and my children, Kristin and Richie and my equally precious grandson Aidan, who all bring me so much joy each day of my life and who also get me to as many of the boys hockey games as possible. The remarkable athletes who play on the WHS Wildcat Boys Hockey teams, the parents who raised these talented, fun, caring athletes, my extended family, my very special friend Janice Gennetti, Steve Scanlon, Ed Harrison, Officer Dave Shugrue, Officer Chip Bruce, the employees of Ristuccia Rink, my many friends and co-workers, bus drivers at NRT, John Foley Sr. (My "special seating" co-fan), John Foley Jr, for their importance in my life and for arranging and being part of this heartwarming benefit. Also thank you to the many others who helped organize the raffles, the Judy's ALS Wildcat merchandise and the many others who have raised awareness and or donations to go toward ALS over the years. For the warm, comfy lap blanket, wildcat scarf, the team shirt, the Hockey Team picture shirt, the many assorted pictures I received, for everything—to all of you, thank you so, so, so much. The genuine kindness, compassion, and personal support shown to me since I was given the diagnosis of ALS has been overwhelming. Specifically, on Saturday, witnessing the incredible turnout, the love, prayers and thoughts shared in each hug I received from so many of the players, guests in attendance, friends, and family, touched my heart so, so deeply and more than my mere words could ever explain. The tears of gratitude, happiness and love that fell from my eyes throughout that day was proof what the afternoon truly meant to me. Unfortunately, I was not blessed with the health that we each hope for as we grow older, however I am incredibly blessed to see what I have done in my life has mattered to so many. That is one of the greatest gifts I will ever receive. I want each of you to know what you have done for me matters and each of you matter to me in so many ways. It is with hope that you accept these words as a gift from me to each of you. Thank you from the bottom of my heart for your kindness, love and support. Written with the deepest sincerity and love... Judy Lee & Family (Rich, Kristin & Richie)

Anybody want to buy a newspaper? The Boston Globe is for sale (again). The bigger question: is there a market base to justify the cost of keeping the daily newspaper in print? This business transaction is going to be a hard sell without customers buying the product. Don't get me wrong. I love newspapers. I've loved them since I learned how to read. In those days the comics section was spread over four full pages. And the comic strips themselves were big enough to read without a magnifying glass. As an artist, I was heavily influenced by the stylized drawings of Dick Tracy, L'il Abner and Terry and the Pirates.

It wasn't just the comics that piqued my interest at a young age. The Record American, a small tabloid with screaming headlines, was my favorite newspaper in the early 1960's. I was curious about the charts and graphics of the battles being fought in Viet Nam. The unpronounceable names on the maps intrigued me as much as the gruesome headlines concerning a war I didn't understand.

The movie section was another favorite part of the paper. The ads, like the movies, were larger than life. The best movies were always rated "M" for mature audiences. I couldn't wait until I was old enough to see the schlocky horror movie triple features at the Meadow Glen Drive-In Theater. Since I was too young to see the movies, the ads were the next best thing.

Newspapers were omnipresent back then. There were morning and evening editions published. Two or three different newspapers were brought into my home twice a day when I was young. On Saturday nights, my father and I would head to the square around seven or eight o'clock to pick up an advanced copy of Sunday's newspaper. And on Sunday we'd get another copy just to make sure we didn't miss anything. It's no wonder I chose a career in the newspaper industry. We didn't need the internet back then.

As a young adult, I was a huge fan of the Boston Sunday Globe. Weekends weren't complete without a hefty Sunday newspaper overflowing with advertising inserts. Perusing the paper would entertain me for an entire morning. Sometimes I wouldn't finish reading everything until late Sunday night. I would love to have that luxury again. In today's world no one has that kind of time.

The way people consume news makes daily newspapers almost obsolete. The instantaneous internet makes the most current newspaper reporting seem like it's a day behind.

Events are old news the moment they are reported. Luckily for those of us in the industry, local newspapers still remain a valuable source of news, events and happenings in town. Weekly publications have a longer shelf life than the daily dinosaurs that face stiff competition for a multitude of other news sources.

Senior citizens and baby-boomers seem to be the last people who purchase physical copies of newspapers on a daily basis. The younger generation has no problem obtaining all of their news from the internet. Internet news is unreliable because its source checking is sporadic. I prefer to get my news from a team of people who report to an editor who is held responsible for reporting the truth. The internet is easily manipulated, making it hard to tell fact from fiction. Wikipedia™, the on-line public reference encyclopedia, has millions of users. However, it can be edited by anyone with a keyboard, with no verification of the truth. Just ask one of the many people out there who now believe Abraham Lincoln was a vampire slayer.

Even though I have not been a fan of the Boston Globe for decades, I don't want to see it disappear. I was pleasantly surprised to learn there are several potential buyers expressing interest. Some have a genuine love for the industry (Warren Buffett, who recently purchased sixty newspapers!). Some may just want the publicity (Ernie Boch, Jr.). Maybe there is a buyer out there who sees the historical significance of owning an iconic piece of history and wants to see the newspaper industry continue to impact the future. No one knows if the internet will be around forever. There was a time when people thought newspapers would be around forever too. I was one of them.

Back in Time

by Bill Catherwood

You know, it's kind of funny the way things happen. I'm becoming a believer in the theory that when something bad happens, something good will happen soon. During this recent cold snap, I had a pipe freeze and burst and had to go back to the doctor with my arthritic knees . . . what next?

Well, I was going into the doctor's and walked by a pickup truck. I like pickup trucks and always take notice of them. There was a fellow sitting in the truck and he gave a nod and a smile. Shortly after, I was in the pharmacy and this same fellow was in there. I said, "Hi" and he replied, "Don't I know you, are you Billy Catherwood?"

It turned out that he was Ron Theriault, whom I had met in the third grade. I couldn't believe that after all these years he recognized and remembered me. I guess my looks hadn't improved at all. Ron and I started to talk about the good old days when the town was still a town and all the guys we went to school with. I was saddened to hear that a couple of them had passed away, both of these guys were good guys.

In the third grade our teacher was Winnie Colbath. She was a great lady and a great teacher. She deserved better than having Ron and I in her class. Her father was Eb Gray, who owned a farm on Carter Street in Tewksbury and sold milk to my grandfather's dairy, right over the Lowell line.

Mrs. Colbath was a real teacher. When I had the flu and was out of school for a long time, she called my mother and offered to come to our house and tutor me so that I wouldn't get too far behind. When my mother offered to pay her, she refused the money. Actually, I think she was afraid that if I didn't pass, she'd be stuck with me again. As strict and proper as Mrs. Colbath was, she was cool at recess in the North St. School. She taught the boys how to pick up a blade of green grass and hold it between your thumbs and make a whistle out of it.

Ron and I and a few other boys would go in back of the North St. School at recess and catch salamanders for pets. I doubt that most kids nowadays even know what a salamander is. We even tried having salamander races. We thought that was a big deal, although I don't think it ever made it in the sport's section of the newspaper or anything.

A lot of young boys growing up in the country (at that time Tewksbury was country), were interested in hunting. At the time, in back of the North St. School was great for pheasants and we'd often see hunters out there in the fall. Well, one day I was in class with Ron and he nodded toward me and grinned. There were some hunters with their bird dogs out there.

Now to this day, I still can't say why I thought that this would work, but without saying a word, I got up and ran out the fire door to catch up with the hunters. Now, this didn't work the way I thought it would. When I got to the hunters, they nicely told me that both they and I would be in trouble if I didn't go back. When I turned to go back, I saw an angry mob of teachers, led by the school principal, coming toward me. To me, they looked like they were chasing Whitey Bulger instead of a 8-year-old boy. When I finally got back to the class, Ron gave me a big round of applause and said, "Way to go Bill!" He was always a stand up guy.

My parents had to go up to the school and sign a paper stating that they knew their son was weird and I think I was grounded from recess until I got married. Never the less, little things like this didn't bother Ron. He remained my friend.

Wendi Wiberg tutors Today Show hosts on the authentic Boston accent

By BOB TUROSZ
North Reading Transcript

NORTH READING - If you're not from these parts and spent a lot of time scratching your head when someone told you not to "pahk your cah in the Hahvid Yahd," you know that Boston has one of the country's most famous, most imitated and occasionally indecipherable accents. Experts say the roots of the Boston accent - the dropping of R's and other features - go all the way back to the earliest settlers of Massachusetts, who came from towns like Boston in East Anglia, England.

NBC's Today Show came to Boston two weeks ago, setting up shop in the Faneuil Hall Marketplace. One of their special local guests was North Reading's Wendy Wiberg, who gave hosts Matt Lauer and Savannah Guthrie a quick lesson in the authentic Boston style of speech.

Wiberg, a speech and language pathologist as well as an accent coach, bantered with Lauer and Guthrie on camera in front of the marketplace, leading them in Boston and non-Boston versions of sentences like, "It's not hard for Mark Wallberg to speak Boston because he's our local star from Dorchester." Use your imagination to imagine what the two versions sounded like.

Wiberg also teaches classes at Boston Casting for actors and actresses and those looking for roles as movie extras to shed their Boston accent, but not because she thinks they should. "No accent is wrong, but sometimes accents can be distracting. And when people speak, especially actors and actresses, it's important people listen to what they're saying and not how they're saying it."

Other verbal Boston accent minefields that Lauer with his New York accent and Guthrie, from Arizona attempted to negotiate:

"Can we get some pizza in the North End? I'm starving," and "Will Bobby Orr be at the weird party, that'd be bizarre." The crowd declared the contest to be a draw.

Wiberg grew up in Wilmington and went to graduate school at New York University, where she earned a master's degree in speech language pathology. She has lived in North Reading for the past 19 years.

She now works as both a health-care professional, specializing in the treatment of communication, cognitive, swallowing and fluency (stuttering) disorders, as well as a corporate communication trainer. Her business, English Onsite helps foreign-born and native speakers of English to improve their American English accents and business communication skills. Her clients have included Fidelity Investments, Brigham and Women's Hospitals in Boston and many pharmaceutical companies. In addition the classes for aspiring actors who don't want to be typecast, Wiberg uses her expertise as a speech and language pathologist to help foreign born residents improve their American English accent and works with seniors who need help with communication or who suffer from swallowing disorders from ailments like Parkinson's disease.

Although Wiberg has presented at local and national conferences throughout her career, as well as being interviewed by NPR, she admitted to being scared to death about her appearance on the Today Show.

"I was completely and utterly terrified." She found her appearance to be great fun, although she admitted to being nervous before her appearance. She had planned a longer lesson but things didn't go as planned and she felt the segment was a little rushed.

"But ultimately it was kind of fun, being at Faneuil Hall with all the excited Today Show fans and listening to people scream, laugh and clap when we were laying on the Boston accent real thick and them our "Best Boston," she said.

"Yet, the best part of the whole thing, though, is that it's OVAH," she added.

Editor's note: Ironically the same day this was published in the North Reading Transcript an article by Rick Cooke was published in the Town Crier featuring Wendi's father, Hugh Wiberg.

Delivery truck damages lawn

Alison Fisette's house in Wilmington had the front yard destroyed by a flatbread delivery truck. Loaded with fencing materials, the driver pulled out cable television and telephone lines while tearing up the yard and driveway. Fisette filed a complaint with the local police and in the meantime, has a heck of a mess to clean up. Courtesy photo

By JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor

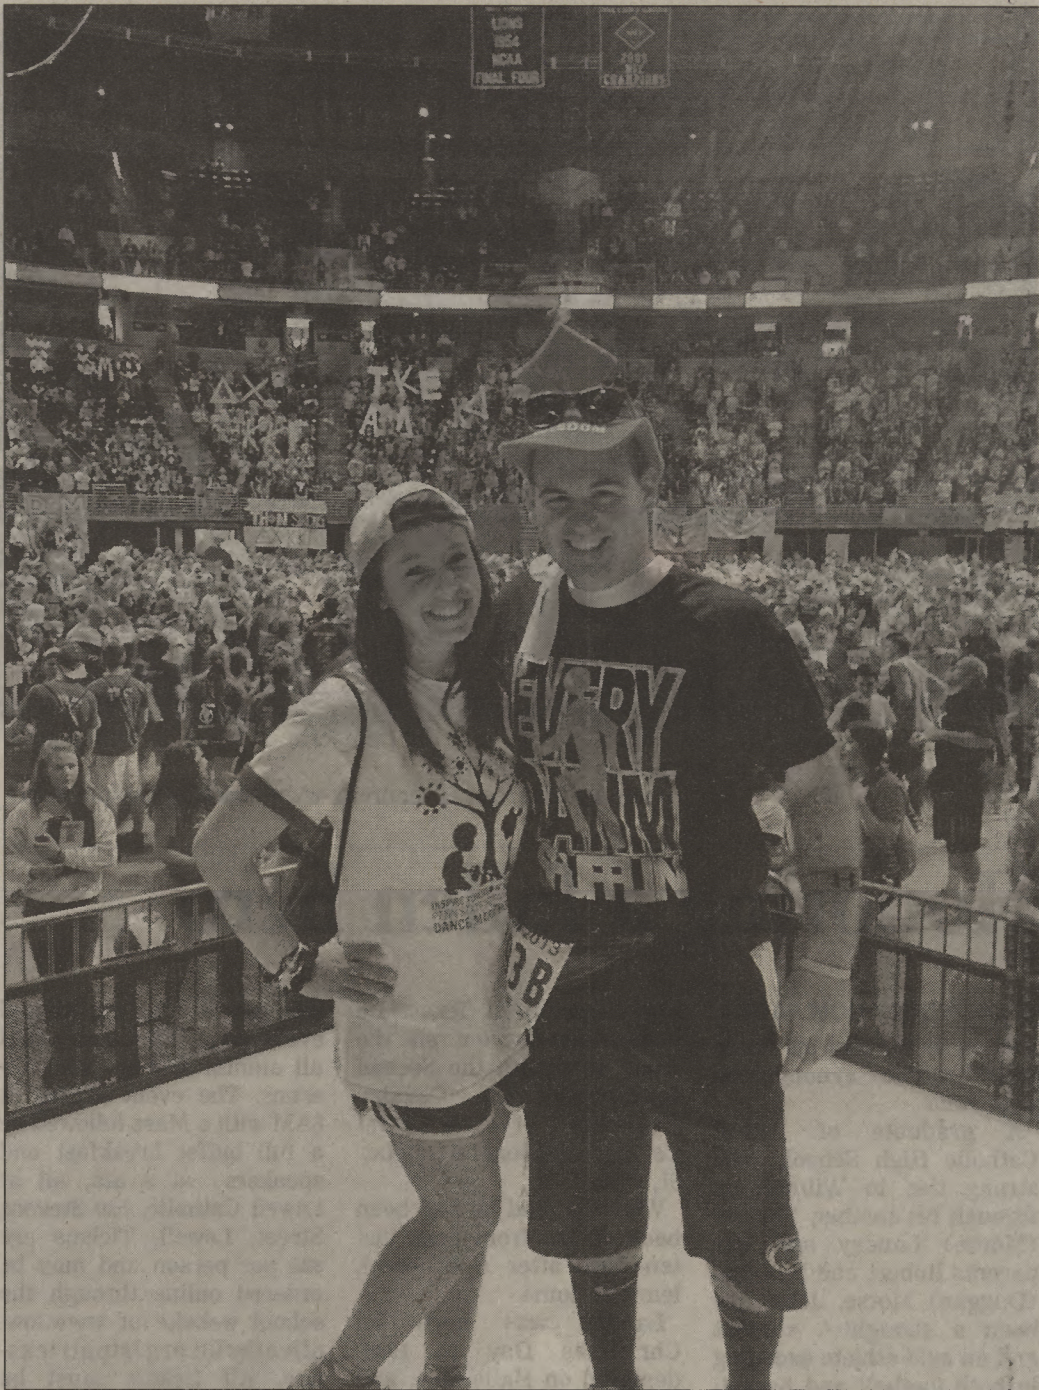

WILMINGTON - Alison Fisette, a systems analyst for an asset management firm in Boston, got one heck of a nasty surprise when she returned to her Hudson Street home from work January 31 to a wrecked mess of a front yard. Deep gouges in the front lawn were left after a delivery truck got mired in the soft soil. But what was a truck doing there in the first place? Fisette's neighbor reported seeing a long, white flatbed truck with what appeared to be fencing material on the back, attempt to use her circular driveway to make a u-turn. However, something went wrong and the truck ended up driving across the lawn, getting stuck, and churning up the earth instead. The truck also pulled all the cable and telephone lines off the house, driving up the damage and costs to this homeowner. Neither the driver nor the owner of the business came forward to compensate Fisette for the damage, obviously thinking they could get away with it. Fisette has filed a complaint with the Wilmington Police Department. Anyone with any knowledge of the incident is encouraged to contact Wilmington Police at 978-658-5071.

Penn State holds what they claim to be the oldest and longest continuing dance marathon in the country to raise money to fight pediatric cancer. Wilmington's Cole Carter was one of the over 700 dancers who went for 46 hours with no sitting or sleeping. WHS Alumni Help Raise $12.3M to fight Childhood Cancer

By SHERYL WALSH

WILMINGTON- Three Wilmington High School graduates were part of Penn State's IFC/Panhellenic Dance Marathon held February 15-17th at the university. Cole Carter, Jacqui Lyman, and Ivy Co each had a different, but important, role in the year-long project. They helped raise a record breaking total of $12.3M for the fight against pediatric cancer. That total surpasses the old record, set just last year, by nearly $1.7M. Displaying stamina and determination, Carter (WHS 2010) was actually one of the over 700 dancers in the 46-hour dance marathon. Activities such as stage performances and pep rallies helped to keep the dancers awake and moving as they struggled through the endurance challenge of "no sit or sleep" dancing for almost two full days. The event ended with a rock concert. Co (WHS 2009) was in Pillar, a special interest THON student organization, which raised over $100,000 for the cause. During the year, Co and other Pillar members went canning, sent donation request letters, held alternative fundraisers, and organized supportive social events. Lyman (WHS 2010) was on the overall committee which also worked for the full year on the event planning. She was an active member of the Rules and Regulations sub-committee. "We all saw the event from three different perspectives and were involved with all aspects of the event," she enthusiastically explains. A reported 16,000 people were in attendance this year. That total includes children who are battling cancer. The smiles on their faces and their moves on the dance floor inspired everyone. Penn State Football Coach Bill O'Brien also attended and provided a motivating speech in the final hours. "In my opinion, this is the greatest university in the country, and in the world, because of this event here," O'Brien said. THON benefits many people and organizations. The biggest is the Four Diamonds Fund at Penn State Hershey Children's Hospital. The fund has received more than $89 million since the students began THON in 1977. war on terror and his name has become synonymous with valor.

A graduate of Lowell Catholic High School, with strong ties to Wilmington through his mother, Pamela (Morse) Landry and her parents Robert and Barbara (Duggan) Morse, John had been a straight-A student and an avid athlete excelling in both football and basketball. He graduated cum laude in 2005 and received a scholarship to college, but decided first to serve his country.

His father, John Sr, was a Marine and his grandfather was a member of the 82nd Airborne Division. Shortly after graduation he began training at Fort Benning in Georgia and later based at Fort Bliss in in Texas. He began his service on the front lines with the Second Battalion, 12th Cavalry Regiment of the First Cavalry Division, on October 31, 2006.

When he died he had been back on the front lines just ten days after a two-week leave at home.

Landry was born on Christmas Day in 1986, deployed on Halloween, and died on St. Patrick's Day. He was posthumously awarded the Combat Infantry Badge and the Purple Heart.

In his honor, Lowell Catholic High School has established a memorial scholarship, which is funded in large part through a St. Patrick's Day Family Breakfast. Tickets are on sale now for the 6th Annual event honoring Landry and all alumni soldiers and veterans. The event begins at 8AM with a Mass followed by a full buffet breakfast and speakers at 9 am, all at Lowell Catholic, 530 Stevens Street, Lowell. Tickets are $25 per person and may be ordered online through the school website at www.lowellcatholic.org/stpatricks-day. All tickets must be ordered by March 13.

Tickets may also be purchased by sending name, address, and a check for the appropriate amount to the address listed above or through Wilmington Veterans Agent Lou Cimaglia at 978-694-2040.

All proceeds go toward the Scholarship Fund available to Lowell Catholic students.

it's going to happen," he said.

If it does, then the effects should be obvious, according to the Pentagon Press Secretary George Little.

"This is not a government shutdown," he said. "But it will start the erosion of our military readiness, and we will soon see impacts to bases and installations around the world."

According to an article by Jim Garamone in the American Forces Press Services, sequestration means that the Pentagon must cut more than $47 billion by the end of the fiscal year, which closes on September 30.

The article also said that 800,000 Defense employees will see their pay furloughed.

A White House press release, repurposed by Representative John Tierney, said that the effects will be felt across the Commonwealth. To highlight some: Massachusetts would lose approximately $13.9 million for primary and secondary education, putting around 190 teacher and aide jobs at risk. In addition about 20,000 fewer students would be served and approximately 60 fewer schools would receive funding. Massachusetts would lose approximately $13.4 million for about 160 teachers, aides, and staff who help children with disabilities.

Politicians are tossing out blame. Representative John Tierney faults Republicans for the coming sequester.

"While we can all agree that we need to cut the deficit in a balanced and responsible manner, these automatic cuts are not the answer. The cuts that House Republicans seem intent on allowing to happen will unfairly impact middle-class families and those already struggling to make ends meet," Congressman Tierney said in a press release.

"As I said this morning, there is a more balanced approach we should take. To date, Senate and House Democrats have offered fair, balanced plans to avert these damaging cuts. These proposals are built on responsible spending cuts, increased revenues, and growth with jobs. Yet Republicans have refused to ask the wealthy to pay a little more by closing tax loopholes, and instead continue to place the burden of our economic recovery squarely on the backs of our middle-class families," he concluded.

Representative Miceli, however, stressed the importance of a dialogue.

"You have to sit down and talk... I really do believe the President is just sitting down and saying, let it happen, I believe that's irresponsible... I feel that way, I really do," he said. "I think these people are playing Russian roulette with the economy and the public."

"The public isn't stupid, the public knows full well that this is a game the president is playing."

more concerned about."

The remaining five candidates are vying for three available seats on the seven-member board. Candidates include incumbents Margaret Kane and Kathleen Carroll, and newcomers Julie Broussard, Jennifer Spear, and Donna Leone. Kane, an incumbent of many years, has returned certified papers and Carroll will be running for her second term once her papers are in.

Note, last week the Crier incorrectly identified Ms Carroll as Kathleen Brothers. The Crier regrets the error.

Tuesday afternoon, Broussard told the Crier her papers have been returned and certified. Broussard pulled papers for nomination with the encouragement of friends and neighbors. "When I heard there was an opening, it seemed like an opportunity where I could jump in and contribute to our community," she said. "I have been a Wilmington resident for 14 years. I have a vested interest in seeing our school system be successful as I have a school-age child and I'm a property owner. I'd like to be part of the team that guides our school system, working with our superintendent and other town officials." Issues important to Broussard are the building and completion of the new Wilmington High School and school safety. "Safety in our schools is a big concern - not only for students but for teachers and staff," she said. Broussard has a human resources background and feels she can add her experience and expertise to the replacement of outgoing Wilmington High School Principal, Eric Tracy.

Jennifer Spear offers more than 18 years of experience in education to the School Committee. "I am an educator by training. Not only am I a mother of four, but one of my children is a member of the special education program," she said. "Three of them are currently in the Wilmington school system." Spear feels her extensive experience in education, coupled with her personal experience as a mother, gives her the insight necessary to give back to the town.

As of last Friday, Donna Leone was the last candidate to pull papers. "What motivates me now is knowing there are three open positions," she said. "I have four children in the public school system in grades 3-8; now is the time to get more deeply involved." Leone says she's already known by some within the school district. "I have one child receiving special education services. For five years, with each stage of promotion, I've worked with a different group of people. I look at what's happening and would like to get directly involved with school issues." Leone has been a foster parent, taught CCD for 6 years (grades 2-6), and coached little league. "This seems like the next step in continuing to work for the children and with the staff in the Wilmington school district," she said.

All nominations papers must be returned by Friday, March 8, 2013, 5 p.m. to the town clerk's office.

Nomination papers require 50 certified signatures: Wilmington residents who are registered to vote. Town Clerk Sharon George says she asks for 60 to 70 signatures to ensure at least 50 are certified. "You have to be a registered voter to sign a nomination paper," she said.

of reflection for not only the people who were victims, but maybe even the people who perpetrated the attacks," O'Mahony said. "But beyond that, Wilmington comes together when people are hurt, regardless of your church and your faith."

"I just want to commend you and the people that you represent from St. Thomas but also representing all [of] the faith organizations in town, who have volunteered and will be participating," said Selectman Michael Champoux, who said he, too, was a member of St. Thomas and was affected by the crime.

"I thank you for bringing this to light. I hope that it will be a very well attended event and illustrates to the people that did this that it only makes us stronger as an interfaith community, no matter what faith you have," he added.

ELECTION

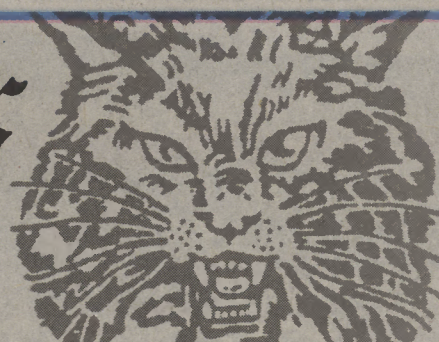

Mark your calendars now for the annual town election, which is moving this year only to accommodate a state-wide election just three days later. Although the town election was originally scheduled for April 27, the board voted to hold the election on Tuesday, April 30, the same day as the state primary election to fill Secretary of State John Kerry's former seat. Holding the elections on the same day will reduce cost and promote convenience for voters to only have to show up to the polls one day, rather than twice in one week. Polls will be open from 7 am - 8 pm.

However, by state law, voters must fill out separate ballots and undergo separate check-in and check-out for both the town election and the state primary, so residents should be prepared.

Outplayed by last seed Stoneham in tourney opener

'Cats prevail despite terrible performance

By JAMIE POTE

WOBURN – Thankfully the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team did not get invited to the Super-8 tournament. Because if they did, and they went up against a team like BC High and played like they did on Tuesday night, they would have taken a bigger beating than the Wildcat Football team did this past October against Melrose.

Last year, the Wildcats won the Division 2 state championship because of their talent, hard work and cohesive team play. On Tuesday night, in the opening round of the Division 2 North Sectional tournament, the Wildcats displayed none of those ingredients. Instead, the Wildcats decided yellow hair, individual play, the decision not to play any defense and ridiculous celebrations in front of the crowd were more important. Luckily, very lucky, the Wildcats prevailed.

After beating Stoneham twice this season and four straight times without giving up a goal, the No. 2 Wildcats had to starve off the hungry No. 14 seed Stoneham Spartans – who closed a three-goal lead down to one with under a minute to play – and scored two goals in the final 24 seconds to come away with the 5-2 win in front of a packed and very loud crowd at the O'Brien Arena in Woburn.

Wilmington, which came into the game giving up an average of 15.8 shots per game, were outshot 34-25 in this game – against a team that had six wins this season, against a team that had one player in double figures in scoring and against a team that didn't score against Wilmington in two seasons.

Stoneham (6-11-4) trailed 3-0 and never back down, totally outplaying Wilmington (17-3-2) in the final two periods, including putting seven shots in net in the opening 1:41 of the second

Girls Hoop team draws Chelsea in first round

By JAMIE POTE

On Wednesday night as this paper was hitting the streets, the Wilmington High School Girls Basketball team was competing in the first round of the Division 2 North sectional tournament for the ninth year in a row.

The No. 4 seed Wildcats (12-8) squared off against the No. 13 seed Chelsea (9-9) in a first round game held at Shawsheen Tech's gym in Billerica, since the Larry Cushing Gymnasium was torn down this past week.

Should Wilmington defeat Chelsea, it will take on the winner of No. 5 seed Danvers (12-8) and the No. 12 seed Gloucester (10-10) on Sunday at 4 pm with the facility to be announced but most likely back at Shawsheen Tech or perhaps at Tewksbury High.

Wilmington would again be the higher seed in the quarterfinal round should they get by Chelsea. This year's Wildcat team started off 0-4 and 2-6 before going 10-2 in its last 12 games including several big wins over other state tournament teams including Burlington and Belmont.

Wilmington is led by seniors Michelle Woods and Alex Derian, junior twins Carli and Christa Brent and a very good team defense. Last year Wilmington defeated Waltham (58-51) and Gloucester (50-47) before losing to Arlington Catholic (57-34) in the sectional semi-finals. The year before Wilmington went 1-1 in the tournament and then back in 2010, the team advanced to the semi-finals again losing to Melrose, after beating Latin Academy and Winchester.

Wilmington High senior forward Michelle Woods has been immense the past two years in the post-season and she looks to keep up that trend this week.

Wrestling season comes to an end for Halliday and Carta

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Two members of the Wilmington High School Wrestling team wrapped up their terrific seasons by competing at the MIAA All-State Meet held this past weekend.

Both Cody Halliday and Gaven Carta finished up their seasons, while the two of them also carried on their family traditions.

"The post season highlights were certainly Cody Halliday and Gaven Carta placing in the state tournament, both were trying to continue family traditions," said head coach Mike Pimental. "Cody's Father and Uncle (Chad) wrestled for Wilmington under Coach Michael Nee and his uncle placed fourth in the section and sixth in the state in 1988. Gaven's father was second in the section and fourth in the state in 1982 under Coach Michael Nee as well, so it was a great accomplishment for their family's as well."

Halliday went 1-2 at the 145-pound weight class. He first lost to Marco Lopes of Southeastern Regional, 6-0, before defeating Mitch Greaves of Mt. Greylock, 13-2, before losing 8-3 to Newton North's Nick Mariano, who ended up placing fifth in the tournament.

Halliday finished the season with a record of 38-10 including 23 pins. He also finished his incredible career as a three-time sectional and two-time state place finisher and a career record of 121-39 with 66 pins. He is one of nine individuals in the history of the program to surpass 100 wins.

Carta, another senior, polished off his career with a showing at the all-states. He lost both of his matches, first to Brian Leddie of Duxbury and Luke Nigro of Burlington, and the two of them went on to place fifth and sixth in the tournament. Carta finished his season with a record of 34-16 with 18 pins and finished his career as a two-time sectional place finisher including taking second this year after taking sixth last year.

As for the team, it turned around a tough six win season of a year ago to an 11-13 record, which included starting out 0-5, only to finish 11-8 the rest of the way.

"The team finished this year's season on huge positive note placing ten guys at the sectional tournament and two at the Division 3 State Tournament," said Pimental. "We originally got off to a slow start with a season record of 0-5, but worked hard to turn things around and finished with a finally season record of 11-13. The team truly peaked in the post-season as we had hoped."

Those ten guys who placed in the sectionals included: Halliday and Carta (2nd), Collin Hoffman and Tom Gorman (3rd), Jim Carlin (4th), Matt Diorio, Nick Tory and Lou Laffarello (5th), Anthony Vitale and Ryan Adams (6th).

"It was truly an outstanding season and we all hated to see it end," said Pimental.

The Wilmington High School Wrestling team finished its season this past week and were led by its senior members of the team. The seniors include (not in order) Jim Kendall, Cody Halliday, Gaven Carta, Brian Nazzaro, James Carlin, Stan Dancewicz and team managers Nathan Ricardo and Zack O'Neil. Jammed packed crowd at Ristuccia

Wildcats edge Redmen in fantastic regular season tilt

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WILMINGTON-- Heading into last Wednesday night's hockey clash between Wilmington and Tewksbury, the match-up had all the makings of an instant classic, with a pair of border rivals, who are also two of the best teams in all of Division 2, battling each other for local bragging rights as well as momentum and seeding for the upcoming Division 2 North tournament.

And once the puck was dropped both teams certainly lived up to the hype, going toe-to-toe from the opening whistle in a hard hitting, fast paced affair that was finally decided when senior forward Dylan DiNatale scored the game winner with 1:38 left for his second goal of the game to give the Wildcats the 3-2 victory before an absolutely packed house at Ristuccia Arena.

With the win the defending Division 2 state champion Wildcats improved to 15-2-3 before wrapping up their season last Thursday with another win over Wakefield, while Tewksbury concluded their regular season with a record of 14-3-1.

"It was a real good game with a tournament atmosphere," Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon said. "Whenever we face these guys they are always great games so we are thrilled to get the win. It was not perfect, but we played well when we had to."

DiNatale's second goal of the game came on assists from junior Luke Foley and senior defenseman Anthony Castellano, sending half of the packed house into a frenzy while devastating the other half.

The goal culminated a thrilling back and forth battle that saw each team dominate at different times, and Wilmington clearly getting the better of the play for more the night, out shooting the Redmen 29-17.

Along with DiNatale's two goals the Wildcats also got a goal from senior forward Brendan McDonough and three assists from Castellano, while Tewksbury got a goal each from the brother combination of Derek and Ryan Petti.

"It was a great game," Tewksbury coach Derek Doherty said. "Wilmington is a good team. This is a good rivalry game, and both teams get up for it. It is a big game for both teams."

McDonough got the Wildcats on the board just 41 seconds into the game, popping in the rebound of a Castellano shot past the blocker of Tewksbury goalie Kyle Paquette for a 1-0 lead before the capacity crowd was even settled in their seats, not that most of the crowd ever settled in their seats throughout the game.

Tewksbury was not intimidated however, as they bounced back to score the next two goals of the game.

Senior captain Derek Petti got the first one, tying the game at 1-1 at the 3:54 mark of the first period on a power play goal with an assist from fellow captain Mike Casey. Petti took a pass from Casey and launched a perfect wrist shot from just inside the blue line, beating Wilmington goalie Drew Foley to the stick side.

The Redmen took a 2-1 lead at 8:06 of the first period on a goal by sophomore forward Ryan Petti, with assists going to Tyler Slavin and Derek Petti, but Wilmington controlled the last half of the first period before tying the game in the final minute.

Both Jake Rogers and Brian Pickett had good opportunities to tie the game for the Wildcats, but Paquette (26 saves) made a couple of great saves to keep the game deadlocked.

DiNatale finally did get one past Paquette with 39 seconds left in the period, one timing a perfect pass out front from Cody

McGowan past Paquette to make the score 2-2 as the teams headed to the locker rooms for the first intermission.

"We figured there would be a lot of emotion and energy at the start of the game," Scanlon said. "We fed off the crowd and got the early goal and it was a good first period."

The second period was a much different story for both teams as the game settled down quite a bit with the teams putting only five shots each on net.

There were a couple of opportunities for both teams, with Rogers having the best chance for the Wildcats on a shot from point blank range during a Wildcat power play with 10:00 left in the period. Casey had Tewksbury's best opportunity of the period, also during a power play, but Foley came up with a big glove save to keep the game tied with 3:00 left in the period.

Tewksbury was actually getting the better of the play in the final few minutes of the period, but the second frame came to an unexpected end when with 1:32 left in their period the glass behind the Wilmington net was cracked and had to be repaired.

The officials decided to send both teams to their locker rooms as the Ristuccia staff repaired the glass the Zamboni prepared a fresh sheet of ice. Although the Redmen seemed to be getting the better of the play when the unexpected delay took place, Doherty did not feel like it cost his team.

"We were putting some pressure on at that point, but it was the same for both teams," Doherty said. "It was the right thing to do at the time, sending both teams to the locker room."

Wilmington got the better of the play for much of the third period, and had several chances to take the lead, but Paquette kept the game tied with some brilliant saves.

Paquette's outstanding play impressed, but did not surprise his coach.

"Kyle is just a sophomore, but he plays like a veteran," Doherty said. "He steps up in big games for us and he knows what is expected of him."

Paquette could not hold off the Wildcats forever though, and DiNatale finally potted the game winner with 1:38 left with assists from Luke Foley and Castellano.

Scanlon was obviously happy to get the win, but was even happier to see it come on a pair of goals from a player like DiNatale, who plays on the Wildcats second line.

"The last couple of weeks we have been looking for secondary scoring and we got that tonight," Scanlon said. "I was happy for Dylan. He was playing well all night."

Town Crier Sports Staff tourney predictions

Every year Town Crier Sports Editor Jamie Pote and Correspondent Mike Ippolito give out predictions on who will win the respective North titles in both basketball and hockey in the MIAA State Tournaments which got underway this past week. The predictions were made Monday morning (Division 1 North Boys Hockey on Tuesday morning) before the tournament started. Last year Ippolito held the upper hand by getting eight sectional winners correct and five other sectional finalists correct, while Pote lagged behind getting just five sectional champs correct and five other sectional finalists correct.

Here's this year's choices.

Pote's Predictions

Boys Basketball

Division 1 North: St. John's Prep over East Boston - EB upsets No. 2 Lowell in quarters but seems like Prep is the best team in bracket.

Division 2 North: North Andover over Brighton - One of these days Mike McVeigh will win and I'll stand corrected. Hopefully it's this year - I can't keep picking the Knights every year just because I'm a big fan of the guy.

Division 3 North: Danvers over Watertown - This is the Falcons tournament to lose.

Division 4 North: St. Mary's over Lynnfield - How can St. Mary's be Division 1 in hockey but D4 in hoop? Makes no sense. They breeze through this tourney.

Girls Basketball

Division 1 North: Billerica over Andover - All MVC Showdown. Billerica has its best team in a many years and buddy Jim Tildsley guides team to several upsets before falling to league foe.

Division 2 North: Reading over North Andover - Again Reading's title to lose, and something tells me Arlington Catholic will get upset by North Andover. That's good since their loudmouth idiot fan will be sent home packing.

Division 3 North: St. Mary's over Pentucket - Now the Girls are in D3? Oh wait, I forgot, everything the MIAA does makes perfect sense.

Division 4 North: New Mission over Whittier Tech - City teams usually prevail in weaker divisions.

Boys Hockey

Division 1A: St. John's Prep over Springfield Cathedral - Clearly the top two teams in the entire state go for the Gold in truly epic game.

Division 1 North: Chelmsford over Arlington Catholic - It'll be good to see a local MVC team take home a title - especially over a private school, who yes again should be competing with all other private schools and not with public schools. Yes, I said it again.

Division 2 North: Wilmington over Newburyport - Wilmington is the clear favorite and I would be pretty silly not to pick them. However, this won't be easy as four other teams could easily steal the headlines including Tewksbury. Lincoln-Sudbury could give Wildcats a lot of problems, while Wilmington could be its worse enemy if it thinks it'll be breeze through this section. However, the ingredients are there to win again, especially over the Clippers who will find a way to lose, like they always do.

Division 3 North: Marblehead over Lowell - This one seems pretty safe.

Girls Hockey

Division 1: Woburn over Westford - Woburn has built an awesome tradition and will continue to build on it this year.

Division 2: Falmouth over Duxbury - A friend of mine, who wrote a book called "The Running Waves" lives in Falmouth, so for his sake, I'm taking them. Why not?

Ippolito's Predictions

Boys Basketball

Division 1 North: Lowell over St. John's Prep. The Red Raiders have put it all together this season and they cap off their great season with a sectional crown.

Division 2 North: New Mission over North Andover. Could be an epic semi-final with New Mission and Brighton in a rematch of this year's Boston City League championship.

Division 3 North: Danvers over North Reading. Defending state champs hand North Reading its first loss of the season.

Division 4 North: St. Mary's over Lynnfield. In an almost all parochial bracket, Lynnfield sneaks into the final. But their run comes to an end against a powerful St. Mary's squad.

Girls Basketball

Division 1 North: Central Catholic over Billerica. Rematch of last year's final won by Central. I want to pick Billerica, but I know Central winning aggravates Jamie. So, go Central!

Division 2 North: Reading over Arlington Catholic. Another rematch of last year's final with the same result, but it is impossible to pick anything else. Reading has won 46 straight games heading into the post-season.

Division 3 North: St. Mary's over Pentucket. Defending state champs from Pentucket fall just short this year.

Division 4 North: Fenway over Whittier. Whittier has cakewalk to the sectional final with much easier side of the bracket, but Fenway smokes them in the final.

Boys Hockey

Division 1A: Springfield Cathedral over St. John's Prep. Springfield seems like the class of the field, and they prove it with a win over top seed St. John's Prep in the finals.

Division 1 North: Chelmsford over Winchester. Kind of boring to pick No. 1 seed over the No. 2 seed, but these are clearly the two best teams in the bracket. Chelmsford has lost three games all year, all to Super 8 teams.

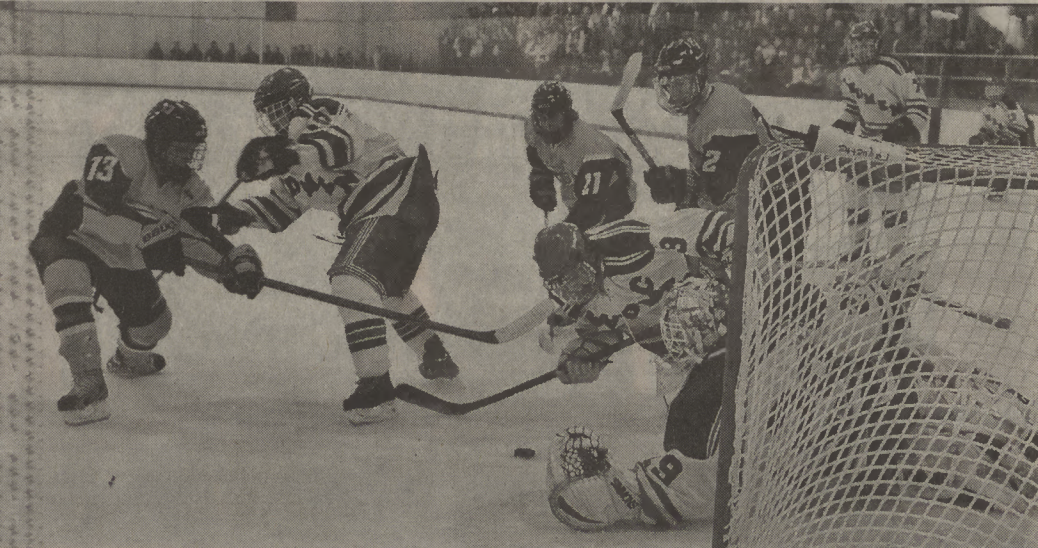

Division 2 North: Wilmington over Beverly. The defending state champion Wildcats have been just too good this year to pick against them. But if Tewksbury can upset Beverly in the semi-finals, it would be an amazing final between the last two state champions.

Division 3 North: Wayland over Lowell. Wayland comes into the tournament at just 9-7-4, but they played a brutal schedule, including a late season win over Lowell. Besides, I just can't bring myself to pick Marblehead.

Girls Hockey

Division 1: Woburn over Acton-Boxboro. Nobody can stop the high powered Tanners, who take down perennial power St. Mary's in the semi-finals.

Division 2: Duxbury over Falmouth. Duxbury would probably be the favorite win Division 1, let alone Division 2. But Division 2 fans should stand up and take notice of Tewksbury's Amanda Conway and her 48 goals.

ond period, and outshooting the 'Cats 16-8 in the third period. The Spartans outthrustled Wilmington in every facet of the game over the last two periods. Luckily, the 'Cats prevailed and will now take on the No. 6 seed Boston Latin Friday night at the Stoneham Arena beginning at 8:00 pm.

"That (individual style of play) has plagued us all season long so you would hope it would be put away for the tournament and it's not the make-up of the team (right now), so it doesn't look that way," said a very disappointed coach, Steve Scanlon. "We had a few better individual players and we were able to get some goals in the first period to get ahead, but we had the (overall) shots at 38-19 (in Stoneham's favor) so this is just unbelievable.

"We have fought this off and on all season. You would think once the tournament comes that we would put this (individual stuff) away but it's the refusal to play defense and I'm going to do it myself (mentality). It's not one or two kids; it's seven or eight kids and they are apparently not going to change."

So coach how can you fight that?

"I don't think you can. I really don't think you can. They are what they are and they are going to do what they are going to do. You can plead with them all you want but when the game starts the players play. You would hope that the next game they will do their jobs, but you need your best players to play well especially in the tournament and tonight we were very fortunate that (our goalie) Drew (Foley) did because without him there would have been a serious problem.

"We have multiple kids who just will not play any defense whatsoever. Just utter refusal to do it. I can't bench the whole team. It's just real disappointing. Obviously we are thrilled to move on and get the win but you're not going anywhere playing like this, so this is a real concern."

The teams played pretty even through the first half of the first period before Wilmington scored three goals in the final 5:02 to take a commanding 3-0 lead after the break. After struggling to get any kind of production from anyone except the members of the first line, the 'Cats did as freshman Billy Falter from the third line as well as Cam Owens and then second line center Dylan DiNatale all tallied single goals - all on tremendous displays of passing and positioning, which disappeared in the final two periods.

"I would like to think that (we got out 3-0 and thought we could cruise) but I'm starting to see more and more of the individual style," said Scanlon. "This is not the style of hockey that we played against Reading and it's not the type of hockey we played against Tewksbury. That's the stuff that we have seen down in Acton, against Watertown earlier in the year. It's disrespecting your opponent. It's one of the worse things you can do in sports especially in a tournament and especially when you are trying to beat a team three times in one year which is always a very difficult thing to do."

Wilmington held a 9-6 advantage in shots after the first period before taking a long nap over the final 30 minutes. Stoneham got on the scoreboard with a power play goal just 45 seconds into the second period. A short time after that, Foley came up huge stopping a breakaway, and the Spartans trailed 3-1 after the second period, but held a 10-8 advantage in shots.

Again in the early goings of the third period, Stoneham scored again, this one at the 2:30 mark as Jarred Penney put home a rebound off an initial shot taken from the point and suddenly it was a one goal game. Stoneham all but dominated over the next ten minutes, putting 16 shots on net in the third period as Foley started to get peppered inside the two circles. He came up with several outstanding stops before

"I give Stoneham a lot of credit," said Scanlon. "They worked their butts off. They got their goals and they were coming. (We got the win because of Drew's) good goaltending and some lucky bounces because we would have been had and it wouldn't have been the first to do it in the tournament. We'll try to regroup but this is not a positive thing."

On Friday, Wilmington will play the six seed Boston Latin Wolfpack, who defeated North Reading 3-2 in overtime minutes before the Wilmington-Stoneham game.

On Friday, the 'Cats will play Boston Latin, who comes into the game with a very deceiving 12-6-3 record. The Wolfpack has played a gruesome schedule facing nine teams that have qualified for post-season play including ending in a 1-1 tie with Central Catholic, 3-1 losses to both Chelmsford and Sandwich, a pair of ties with Lincoln-Sudbury and a pair of losses to Tewksbury. All in all they have gone 3-6-3 against teams in post-season play, all six losses coming against Sandwich, Pembroke, Tewksbury twice, Concord-Carlisle and Chelmsford.

"I know they have a couple of skilled players upfront, their goaltender is decent but I'll be looking to get more information about them in the next few days," said Scanlon.

If Wilmington defeats Boston Latin, it will play Monday against the winner of Lincoln-Sudbury/Winthrop at the Chelmsford Forum with the time to be announced. LS is a very talented, big and physical team and Winthrop was defeated by the 'Cats in last year's sectional championship game.

Seven individuals advance to New Englands

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

ROXBURY – Two individuals and one relay team placed in the top six in their respective event during Saturday morning's MIAA All-State Track-and-Field Meet held at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury. Those performances by Tewksbury's Cory Cataldo, Wilmington's Eli Jennings as well as the Wildcat Girls 4x400 relay team, means a total of six student-athletes from the two towns will be participating in this weekend's New England Meet which will also be held at the RLC. In addition, Wilmington High senior Steve Halas has also qualified for the New Englands.

Cataldo finished fifth at the All-State Meet meaning he's the fifth best 55-meter hurdler in the entire state. Jennings finished sixth in the shot put and the 4x400 relay team consisting of Alex Bischoff, Rachel Alatalo, Michelle Barnes and Cassie Grasso finished fifth overall with a combined time of 4:05.99. Also, Halas finished seventh in the 1,000 meters with a time of 2:34.1 and has advanced after one of the top six finishers elected not to go. Those seven individuals advance and both Jennings and the relay team will be seeded 9th in all of New England, while Cataldo will be seeded 10th and Halas 12th.

Starting with the Wilmington Relay team, in the past 15 years only two individuals have advanced to the New Englands, Jackie Mello in the 55-meter dash and Stephanie Baima in the high jump, so for this relay team to advance thus far is an incredible accomplishment.

"They again were not in the seeded heat but beat two teams that were," said Wilmington head coach Tom Bradley on the team's fifth place finish from this weekend. "Alex Bischoff, Rachel Alatalo, Michelle Barnes and Cassie Grasso ran and really ran well. I have taken Jackie Mello to the New Englands twice and Stephanie Baima went in the spring her senior year so this does not happen all that often. (Assistant coach) Tracy (Botelho) did a great job with them. I am not sure if this is a school record but certainly is the best I have seen in a long time."

Botelho said that she believed the 4:05.99 time was indeed a school record. She said that's extremely impressive that the Girls took fifth in the entire state, and will go in this weekend as the ninth best team in all of New England, with just two teams from Massachusetts ahead of them, league foe Lexington and Acton-Boxboro, two division one teams.

"We are a Division III team and competed against mostly Division I and some Division II teams at the All-State meet," she said. "The schools we were up against had indoor facilities to practice in. My girls ran outdoors and in the WHS hallways and they still prevailed. I am so proud of these girls. They are not only superb athletes, but outstanding students as well."

The entire season it's basically been a five-member team as Kelly Hartsough has also been a key figure, including being a part of the team that won the Division 3 State Relay Meet.

"I am impressed by the competitive spirit they have shown and Kelly Hartsough is included," said Bradley. "It really has been a five person team in the last three to four weeks after Michelle started running again. Each of them has provided moments where I can only shake my head in admiration as I see them put everything into it. I am glad to see them get to this level and get some recognition."

The other Wilmington representative will be junior Eli Jennings. He finished sixth in the entire state throwing the shot put 52-05.25 and he will be seeded 9th at this weekend's New England Meet.

In addition to his individual race, Halas also joined Pat Barry, Jared Walsh and Andrew Sears to finish 19th in the 4x400 relay race with a time of 3:36.15.

"I am very proud of Eli, Steve, and the relay team and their performances at All-States," said Wildcat boys coach Mike Kinney. "They represented our team, school and the community exceptionally. Both Eli and Steve qualified for New Englands which is a rare accomplishment. Eli threw his personal best and placed sixth. Steve broke the school record again by two seconds. His half mile split was 2:01 which is phenomenal."

"The relay team ran well and placed 19th. Jared Walsh replaced Colin Chase who could not make the meet and ran very well. Both Pat Barry and Andrew Sears ran their fastest splits of the season."

Turning to Tewksbury, Cataldo highlighted the team's day with his fifth place finish in the hurdles, which is truly a remarkable accomplishment considering he picked up the event halfway through this season. He was clocked at 7.83 seconds to take fifth.

"Cory is getting better and better in the hurdles," said head coach Bill Meuse. "He is really just starting to get comfortable in the event. The great thing about Cory is that because he has only begun hurdling a little over a month ago, there are some things we can still work on to improve his time. Cory's willingness to learn the event will only make it easier for him to run faster times."

Besides Cataldo, John Fiorello placed 12th in the entire state in the shot put throwing 49-05.50 and that should say so much about the senior who has improved leaps and bounds in the event. Cory Thomas was 15th in the two mile finishing at 9:44.88 to end his magical season and Eddie Matovu was 22nd in the 55-meter hurdles clocked at 9.26 seconds.

"Eddie, John and Cory have had great seasons and I am happy that the coaching staff got to be able to share this experience with these fine athletes," said Meuse. "We had such a great season and these athletes deserved to be at a meet of this caliber."

Lady Rams win state tourney opener

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA – The Shawsheen Tech Girls Basketball team rode a relentless first quarter offensive attack to an easy 57-30 victory over Greater Lawrence on Tuesday night in the first round of the MIAA Division 4 Sectional Tournament at the Cook Street Pavilion.

Shawsheen scored the first 15 points of the game and led 27-5 at the end of the first quarter and 36-11 at the half before coasting to the victory. The third seeded Lady Rams improved to 18-3 with the win and advanced to the quarterfinals where they will host New Mission on Friday night, while 13th seeded Greater Lawrence finished their season at 11-10.

Shawsheen was led by 17 point, eight rebounds and seven steals from senior forward Stephanie Champoux of Tewksbury, while junior Shanell Nardone of Wilmington and junior Rachael Fahey had eight points each.

"I thought we came out very well," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "When you go up 27-5 the way we did you take control of the game. I was happy with our ability to get off to a good start."

A good start might be the understatement of the century as the Lady Rams literally took control from the opening tap. Fahey tipped the jump ball to Medeiros, who dribbled once and knocked down a three pointer from the top of the key five seconds into the game to give Shawsheen a lead they would never relinquish.

The offensive outburst would continue from there with Nardone extending the lead to 13-0 when she converted a fast break basket on a great pass from Ari Medeiros of Tewksbury.

When Emily Knoops of Tewksbury knocked down a jumper from the corner the lead went to 15-0 before Greater Lawrence's Escarlin Reynoso drained a three pointer for the Reggies first points of the game with 3:25 left in the quarter.

Shawsheen would run off seven straight points to extend the lead to 22-3 and when Champoux banked in a three pointer from way beyond the arc at the first quarter buzzer the Lady Rams had themselves a more than secure 27-5 lead.

Barriss made wholesale substitutions in the second quarter, mixing and matching multiple combinations, and the game evened out somewhat, but with Shawsheen continuing to force turnovers they still managed to extend their lead to 36-11 at the half led by six Champoux points in the second quarter.

While there were many stars on this night, there were none better than Champoux, who along with Medeiros who had five points six assists an four steals, were the unquestioned leaders of the Lady Rams.

"Stephanie and Ari are co-captain for a reason," Barriss said. "They carry our teams. They are the ones make our team go. I was really happy with both of them."

Shawsheen led 43-18 at the end of three quarters and extended the lead to a game high 31 points at 49-18 early in the fourth quarter before finally securing their 27 point victory.

As great as Shawsheen played on Tuesday and as complete a wire to wire victory as it was, Barriss knows his team will have to be even better on Friday night against New Mission of the Boston City League.

"We did everything right for tonight," Barriss said. "Friday night will be the different opponent in here. If we don't do a better job of protecting the ball and executing our plays we're going to look like Greater Lawrence and they are going to look like us."

"They are going to press us all over the court. They are relentless and every possession is going to count. But the bottom line is there are only eight teams in our Division still playing basketball and we are one of them."

WRESTLING

Due to the Blizzard of 2013 which forced the postponement of all sectional wrestling tournaments a couple of weeks ago, some major reshuffling was required in order to allow Massachusetts wrestlers the opportunity to compete in this weekend's upcoming All New England Tournament.

As a result of the rescheduling, members the Shawsheen Tech Wrestling team competed in the MIAA Division 1 Individual State Tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday of this past week and then competed in the MIAA All-State Tournament the past Friday and Saturday.

Several Rams had outstanding performances in the two tournaments, particularly the Division 1 tourney, and one Rams wrestler, senior Devonn Pratt at 152 pounds has moved on to compete in this weekend's All New England Tournament in Providence, Rhode Island.

In the Division 1 Tournament, held at Newton South High School, Pratt finished fourth in his weight class. He may have finished even higher, but a shoulder injury forced him to forfeit his match in the consolation finals.

On his way to his fourth place finish, Pratt pinned Tyler Jacobs of New Bedford in 2:25 and Alex Bloom of Lincoln-Sudbury in 4:30 before losing to eventual champion Richard Viruet of Springfield Central in the semi-finals. In the consolation bracket Pratt beat Brian Doherty of Franklin in an 11-5 decision before for-

Judge, Pendenza have big weeks for UMass-Lowell

By MIKE STOLLER
Sports Correspondent

And, folks, here's a winter toast to many of our former high school star athletes, who have taken their show on the road, and other town residents competing in various events in the local scene over the last few weeks.

Starting with track-and-field, where Tewksbury's own Karie Judge earned All-Conference honors in both the 800 meters and the mile while helping the UMass Lowell women's team win its second straight Northeast-10 Conference championship Saturday at the Reggie Lewis Track and Athletic Center.

Judge, a junior, took second place in the 800 in a time of 2:20.66. She also placed second in the mile, crossing at 5:10.49.

Also shining was Tewksbury's Kyla Higgins, a sophomore, who finished eighth in the shot put with a throw of 35 feet, 6 inches, and fifth in the weight throw with a heave of 43' 6.5.

Overall, the title was the program's fourth in five years and eighth in last eleven years. It was also UMass Lowell's last indoor championship as an NCAA Division II school. It was announced last week that the River Hawks will join Division I and America East as of July 1.

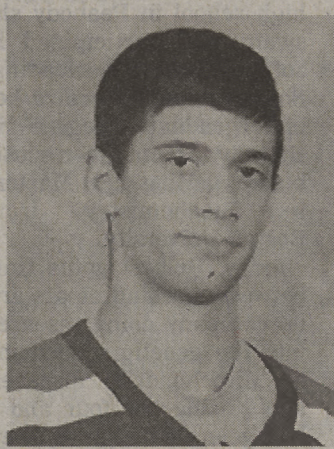

Before that, the UML Track team participated at the recent non-scoring Tufts University Cupid Challenge. Judge, Higgins and junior Stephanie Walker, all of Tewksbury, highlighted the big day with terrific performances in their respective events.

Judge won the 600 meters in a time of 1:36.60. Walker took second place in the 60-meter hurdles, crossing in 8.62 seconds. And Higgins placed third in the weight throw with a heave of 42 feet, 10.25 inches. Judge also helped lead the distance medley relay team to a second place finish. The group's stunning time of 12:19.08 ranks among the top times in Division 2. Judge ran the 800 meters portion in 2:17.54.

Judge and Walker also shined at the recent University of Rhode Island Coaches Tribute Invitational. Judge placed fifth overall and first among Division II-III athletes in the 500 meters with a time of 1:20.30. Walker took eighth place overall in the 60-meter hurdles, crossing in 9.43 seconds.

This past weekend at the New England Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association (NEICAAA) Championship held at the Boston University's Track & Tennis Center, Judge ran a 3:37 1,000 meter split as part of the distance medley team in day one, and then in day two she was the lead-off leg of the 4x800 relay team which set a school record time of 9:16.13 which was good for fourth overall place. In the same meet, Walker placed 21st in the 60-meter hurdles (9.25), while, Tewksbury's Anthony Arcari of Merrimack was 22nd in the 60-meter dash (7.21) and Mark Mastone of Northeastern was 19th in the shot put (47-03.00) and finally Wilmington's Jon Parrella was 31st in the 400 (50.57).

JOE PENDENZA

Turning to hockey, where UMass Lowell standout Joseph Pendenza, of Wilmington, is having a fine season with the River Hawks. In a two-game sweep over Boston University, he had a goal and an assist helping in the first win, a 3-0 score, and then also had a goal and an assist in the 3-1 decision in the second match-up. For that effort, Pendenza was named the Athletic Republic Player of the Week.

Amherst College junior goalie and Tewksbury's own Kerri Stuart stopped 16 shots to post 3-0 shutout over host Trinity College last week. Stuart improved her record in goal to 10-5-1 and has a strong .900 save percentage to along with a terrific 2.34 GAA.

Entering the week, the Lord Jeffs were 12-8-1 overall and 10-3-1 in the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC). The NESCAC post-season tourney starts Feb. 23.

Now to hoops. It's been a tough season for the Wheelock College basketball team, but taking the squad out of the winter doldrums recently was Wilmington's Randi Davis, who scored a career-high 24 points for the Wildcats, who defeated Bay Path College, 74-69, in overtime, for just their second win of the campaign. Davis closed out the game with five points to spark the New England Collegiate Conference victory.

Wheelock's point and assists (21) totals for the game rank as the second-highest in the program's history. The Wildcats also shot 58.3 percent (7 of 12) from three-point range. Davis connected on three of four attempts from beyond the arc.

Tewksbury's Megan Robertson is lighting it up for the Amherst College women's basketball team, which was ranked sixth in the country by D3hoops.com as of Feb. 10. Robertson, a sophomore forward who was the NESCAC Rookie of the Year last season, is the team's second leading scorer, averaging 12 points per game, during a campaign in which the Lord Jeffs have posted a terrific 23-1 record and 19-1 in the NESCAC.

Robertson led Amherst with 18 points in its last regular season game last week, a 65-45 win over host Middlebury.

Tewksbury resident Danielle DePierro scored

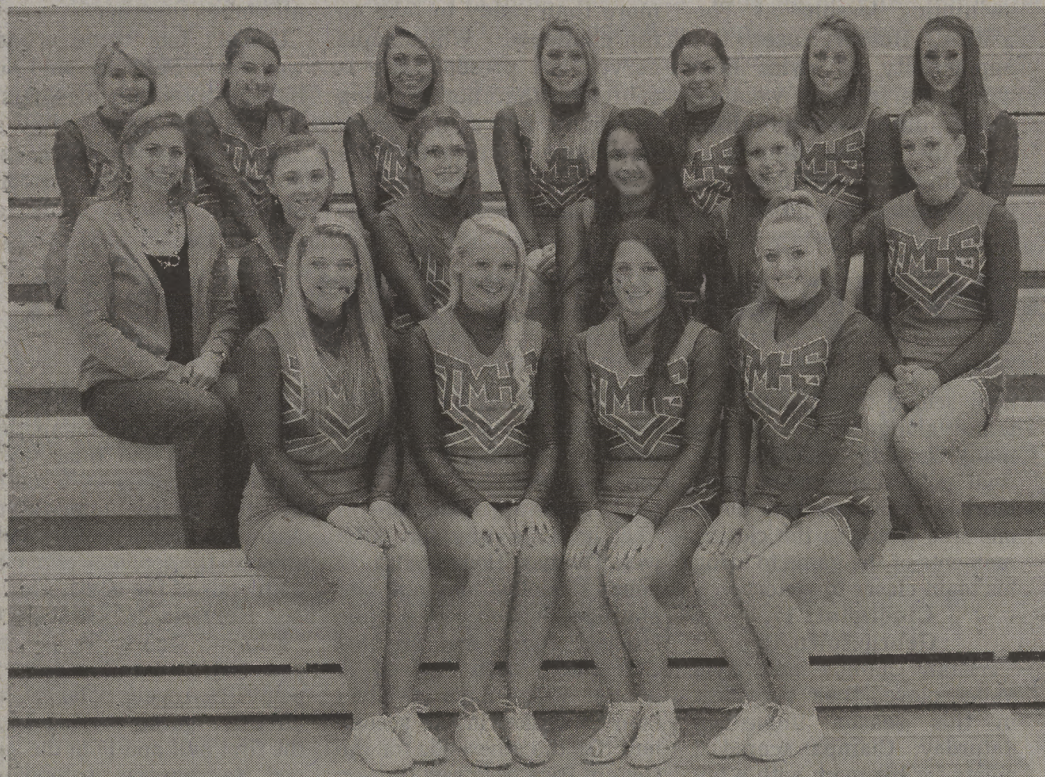

12 points in UMass-Lowell's 101-86 loss to Franklin Pierce.

Turning to tennis, the Saint Michael's College men's team picked up its first victory of the year, topping Le Moyne College, 9-0, in a Northeast-10 Conference match on Friday. Senior Kenny Vassallo of Wilmington and first-year Sam Laves (Bedford, N.H./Bishop Brady) turned in a victory at the third spot.

And now off to the road races. Competing in Tewksbury's Fudgesicle 5K Series Race 7 were Amber Legacy (17th, 22:14); Michael Hurton (18th, 22:23); Joseph Andella (19th, 22:51); Steven Jay (26th, 23:20); Angie Anderson (31st, 23:48); Marli Piccolo (33rd, 23:51); Kim Budryk (41st, 25:18); Allyson Casey (44th, 26:16); Denise Illsley (46th, 26:36); Laura Boerman (57th, 28:32); and Marianne Sullivan (58th, 28:43); Rita LaBella (65th, 31:03).

Meanwhile, in the 20-Miler held at Martha's Vineyard Simonetta Piergentilli, of Wilmington, finished 89th, crossing at 2:36.11. Also, at the 5-Mile Bedford Valentine's Race, Laura Parsons, also of Wilmington, finished 142nd in a time of 57:14.

Piergentilli was also one of eight locals to compete in this past weekend's Hyannis Half Marathon held on the Cape. She finished 71st overall at 1:30.43. She was followed by other Wilmington residents Samuel Oglesby (675th, 1:50.22), Kathryn Riley (1,226th, 2:01.22), Elisa Maglione (1,969th, 2:21.37) and Colleen McMahon (2,314th, 2:53.00), while Tewksbury residents include David Michaud (676th, 1:50.22), Keith Thomasset (1,478th, 2:07.24) and John Mattuchio (1,816th, 2:16.25).

Helbert gearing up for Alcatraz Triathlon

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

Yvonne Helbert does not believe that a person should slow down as they get older. In fact, as times passes, she works harder and harder to remain at the peak of physical prowess. At age 33, she is tackling one of the greatest challenges that she, or anyone, could think of: The Escape From Alcatraz Triathlon.

First run in 1981, the Escape From Alcatraz Triathlon has evolved and expanded over the years into its current form which can involve upwards of two thousand participants. The event is begun with racers diving off a boat into the San Francisco Bay a short distance from the infamous Alcatraz Island. After a 1.5 mile swim, the competitors move on to an 18-mile bike ride, then conclude with an eight-mile run which finishes at Fort Point beneath the Golden Gate Bridge.

Along with the fundamental exhaustion that these distances and change in exercises will bring, racers will also be forced to contend with frigid water temperatures and frequently changing elevations for both the running and biking sections. Although usually run in the early weeks of June, demands on San Francisco have necessitated the event being moved to this Sunday, March 3. This creates an entirely new set of problems for prospective runners, starting with the shock of cold water when first entered.

None of these things deter Helbert. In fact, the increased difficulty only inspires her even more. Indeed, Helbert was drawn to triathlons because of, "the idea of challenging myself physically."

Beginning in 2005, Helbert has run upwards of 15 triathlons, although she can no longer remember the exact number in which she has participated. Along with resident Jimmy Marsh, whom she met after a referral from a Silver Lake life-guard, Helbert has branched further and further out in her search for new challenges to conquer.

While her earliest triathlon experiences were largely focused in New England, she is now moving out into the farther reaches of the country. She has already lined up a new race for this summer in Wisconsin, after the Escape From Alcatraz has been concluded.

Helbert has been involved with athletics for most of her life. While attending high school in Peabody she swam and participated in softball and cheerleading. She went on to receive her undergraduate degree in Biology from Syracuse, before getting her Masters in Biochemistry from Boston University.

Today, Helbert splits time between working at a start-up company doing research into the genetic sequencing of Mitochondrial diseases, and raising her four and a half year old daughter, Zoey.

Balancing these different roles can be tricky, but it only drives Helbert even harder to do it all.

"It's a little bit more motivation," she said. "I have to use my time more efficiently."

Helbert does most of her training in the morning before work, a schedule made all the more difficult in the winter when daylight is late to come and nightfall is early to arrive.

"A lot of it is to go for bike rides and then for a run. It eases the transition," she said.

It is the run which tends to give Helbert the most trouble during a triathlon competition. Already, she is wary of the eight-mile course which will be so demanding at the end of this triathlon. The final leg of the race includes a sand ladder comprised of 400 steps, an exacting stretch of run, especially following the already taxing earlier sections.

There are other, practical concerns facing a prospective racer.

"The biggest fear is the flat tire," Helbert explains.

But this does not deter Helbert. Indeed, if she had had her way, she would have already run this race two years ago.

Because of high-interest, competitors for the Escape From Alcatraz are selected via entering a lottery from which participants are randomly selected. Helbert entered, and was chosen, from this lottery, but chose to defer her chance when her husband was called up to serve in Afghanistan.

After a year abroad, Helbert's unit was returned home in March of 2012.

Since being reunited with her husband, Helbert has worked to make sure that her athletic exploits are a family affair. During Zoey's swimming lessons at The YMCA, Helbert uses the opportunity to swim laps which the freezing weather would otherwise prohibit. And the entire family is traveling to San Francisco to watch Helbert give it her all.

The Escape From Alcatraz is held this weekend and Helbert believes that she is more than ready to take on the challenge. While some nerves are present, she is confident that her training will allow her to do strong work once the race actually begins.

"I freak myself out at the beginning, like with everything," she said. "But as the swim goes on, you relax. It all comes together."

Helbert has come a long way from Peabody, and she has no intention of slowing down as time goes by.

"As I've gotten older, I've gotten better and faster," she said.

Helping him manage the scoring was Joe Lydon and Devin Milano who each had 2 points: they both played very solid games helping their team stay in the game.

Louisville 13, Providence 4

Joseph DeMonico had 4 points to go along with some gorgeous assist work making his presence felt throughout the course of the game. His brother Dominick also played a solid game with 2 points, and some tough defense.

Stephen Smolinsky and Evan Witalisz both had solid performances as well; each had 2 points to their credit and played tough perimeter defense causing steals and scoring opportunities the other way. This was a complete team victory for Nova and a good way to end their almost flawless season.

To no one's surprise Dominic Pedit led the way for DePaul on Saturday with 9 of his team's 13 points as well as a solid job on the boards and on defense. Pedit was harassed all morning by the guards of Villanova and could have had a breakout game had the defense not been so swarming. Timothy Trevisone and Christopher McElligott both played extraordinary games as well, playing tough defense and controlling the tempo offensively for the team.

Marquette 23, Syracuse 7
Marquette was led by the trio of Ryan Martin, Andrew Gallucci, and Derek Gallucci; Martin had a game high 10 points and did damage from both the low post and smooth drives from the top of the key. Andrew Gallucci had 5 points, playing one of his better games of the season; he did a good job of feeding the ball to Martin and other players racking up assists. Derek Gallucci had a solid 6 points hitting tough shot after tough shot, and playing some harassing defense on the other end. Evan Willis scored the last 2 points for the team adding up to their total of 23 points.

For Syracuse the scoring came from a trio of their own, Atley Miller, James Valente, and Jerry Copson; Miller had 3 points, Valente had 2, and Copson had 2 as well. Miller played a tough game on the defensive boards not allowing the opponent get second chance opportunities.

U. Conn did a good job of out toughing their opponent play-fornances as well; each had 2 points to their credit and played tough perimeter defense causing steals and scoring opportunities the other way. This was a complete team victory for Nova and a good way to end their almost flawless season.

To no one's surprise Dominic Pedit led the way for DePaul on Saturday with 9 of his team's 13 points as well as a solid job on the boards and on both scored 2 points for the team along with creating many scoring chances; the final point came from Sean Murray who knocked down one free throw in the closing moments of the game to bring his team closer to victory.

Tristan Ciampa and Kyle Vallee played their very best in this season finale on Saturday; Ciampa scored 5 points for his team with a ton of tough shots that showed off his immense skill. Vallee showed off his athleticism with numerous steals and rebounds that were very impressive; he also had 4 points that came from his incredible defensive play. DJ Ricupero and Brendan Ho both played extremely well to no surprise of this writer; all year these two have played monumentally on the defensive side of the ball. The same goes for Ricupero racking up steals again this week, and Ho picking up tough rebound after tough rebound out of the air.

Cincinnati won in true team fashion this week with every player contributing with what they do best. For Georgetown, Christian Robarge had 7 of his teams' 12 points on Saturday and just played a very solid overall game. Squirt 3's raise the 'Onion Cup'

The Wilmington Squirt 3 hockey team and their families spent the past weekend in Marlboro, MA at the Central Mass Winter Classic. Teams traveled from all over New England and beyond to participate in this tournament. This tournament was also the first for many of the boys on the team so it was bound to be an experience worth remembering.

The Wildcats kicked off the weekend with two games on Friday but found themselves overmatched in both contests, falling to both Franklin County and the North Central Mass Sting. A strong team effort was there throughout the day, as the Wildcats fought hard in both games, but the team from Wilmington wasn't able to come up a win to show for it.

After a long and tough day of hockey, the Wildcat team spent the rest of the night, as well as all day Saturday trying to put those losses behind them as they prepared for their upcoming game on Saturday night against the Cape Cod Coyotes.

The supportive and creative coaching staff and equally dedicated families rallied the Wildcat Squirt players by making them aware that the coveted "Onion Cup", was still there to be won. Already down two games, spirits low and no chance of winning the Winter Classic tournament, the Wildcat team and families wanted something to play for. If the team could put forth their best effort and knock off the strong team from Cape Cod, they'd have the chance to raise the unique and prized "Onion Cup".

This extra motivation along with a strong pep talk in the locker room had the Wildcats buzzing. They put their last two games behind them and came out on the ice ready to go. The starting line of Brendon George, Colin Gates and Will Alworth came out flying. Along with a defensive pairing of Brendan Kelley and Anthony Savage, the Wildcats quickly put on the pressure and kept the play in the offensive zone. Having been shut out in the first two games, the Wildcats were not going to let that happen again.

After a defensive pairing change, defensemen Justin Healey and Jake Chirichiello came on to the ice. Chirichiello made a key play to keep the puck from coming out of the zone and sent it in deep to George who found the back of the net just 1:29 into the game. The anticipation for this goal had been building all weekend as the Wilmington crowd erupted.

The crowd was still cheering as the second line of Joey Cornish, Jeb Bazile and Brady Robbins came to the face off circle. Wilmington continued to build on the momentum pressuring every Coyote player who touched the puck.

The team from Cape Cod wasn't going to let the Wildcats run through them as they got some scoring chances of their own. Goalie Chase Perault, the anchor of the team, showed his skills by turning away anything that the Coyotes threw at him.

As the game went on, the physical play of wingers

Alworth, Gates, Bazile and Robbins along the boards reminded the Coyotes that they were going to be in a battle all game long. Center Joey Cornish, was strong on the face-off circle and was a key part in killing off two Coyote power plays. George continued pressuring on the fore check, and defensemen Savage, Kelley, Healey and Chirichiello played aggressively on the blue line stepping up to attack Coyote forwards as they tried to bring the puck out of their zone.

This assertive play resulted in George's second goal of the game late in the second period. A wrist shot to the top corner with assists from defensemen Chirichiello and Healey.

Holding onto a two goal lead wasn't going to be easy. With the "Onion Cup" sitting behind the glass for the team to see, the Wildcats used quick shifts to stay fresh. More huge saves from Perault made for an exciting third period. The last two minutes, with their goalie pulled, saw the Coyotes having their best pressure all game. With just over a minute left, the Coyotes were able to get one on the board.

With the crowd on their feet Perault had one more huge save to make as the last few seconds ticked off the clock. The Wildcats hung on to pull off the big win of 2-1 and celebrated as a team by raising the "Onion Cup" in front of the overly enthusiastic Wilmington crowd.

Squirt B's

The Wilmington Wildcats Squirt B team faced off against the Assabet Valley Patriots on this past Sunday evening in Tewksbury.

The Patriots came out strong in the first period keeping the play in the Cats zone for most of the period. Max Churchill had a great save and Connor Hill, Nate Packer, and James Kourkoutas made some nice stops on defense to keep the game in reach. The Patriots led 3-0 after one period of play.

The Cats fought back in the second period with some nice bids by Ryan Ackerley and Joey Pastore, and an end to end bid by Peter Kourkoutas. Joey Cornish and Patrick Callahan fought hard to control the puck, creating a few more scoring chances.

The Cats final got on the board at 1:35 left in the second. Evan Munro busted down the right side taking a shot that eventually was buried by Ryan Ackerley with an assist to Jason Davey.

The second period ended 4-1 after the Patriots scored with 48 seconds left in the period. Bryan Davey busted in on the opening faceoff in the third period with a unassisted goal making the score 4-2.

At about the halfway mark of the third, Jason Davey and Ryan Ackerley assisted on a rebound goal by Evan Munro. Ryan Packer and Brian Dunfey turned up the intensity, dumping the puck in the Patriots zone to create several more scoring chances, but the Wildcats ran out of time.

The final score was a 5-3 victory for Assabet, but the Cats played a good game.

Saturday February 16th in the first game of the Waltham Vacation Tournament. Their first opponent was South Boston. Halfway through the first period Charlie Chirichiello opened the scoring with an assist from Jordan Legere. Just 33 seconds later Ryan Murray scored with an assist from Jimmy Keck.

In the second period Legere scored with assists from Brian Barry and Ryan Hayden. Keck added a fourth goal with an assist from Michael Sullivan.

Keck added a fifth goal off a nice pass from Matt MacKeil to cap the scoring 5-0. The defense of Owen Mitchell, Kayla Flynn, Barry and James Caples played superbly. They helped Goalie Dillon Bloom earn a well-deserved shut out.

Wilmington's second game of the tournament was on Tuesday, February 19th. They took on the Waltham A Team. Waltham scored two goals halfway through the first period. Wilmington's defense of Flynn, Mitchell, Jacob Smith and Caples held Waltham during the second period to no goals. The offenses had some scoring opportunities but were unable to capitalize.

A few minutes into the third Waltham scored again. Legere got a quick goal a few minutes later off a pass from Keck. Waltham got one more goal to end the game 4-1.

On Thursday, February 21st the team took the ice against the Waltham B Team. Sullivan started the scoring with a pass from Hayden. Legere followed that up with a goal on an assist from MacKeil. With just two minutes left in the period MacKeil scored on a cross ice pass from Barry. Waltham squeezed in a goal to end the period.

MacKeil scored right away to start the second period with an unassisted goal from the faceoff. Waltham answered with their second goal. A few minutes later Chirichiello scored with an assist from Flynn. MacKeil then earned himself a hat trick scoring off a nice pass from Barry.

Waltham started the third period with their third goal. Then a few minutes later Keck scored off a pass from Chirichiello. A few minutes later Keck took a shot that rebounded off the goalie's pads. Mitchell was there to grab the puck and score. Flynn then scored off a pass from Caples from just inside the blue line. Barry capped the scoring off a pass from Legere to give Wilmington a 10-3 win and a trip to the finals.

On Friday, February 22nd, the Mite 3's took on their arch nemesis the Waltham A team, who are undefeated in league play this season, in a rematch from the quarter finals. The first two periods featured end to end action and some great hockey by both teams. Matt MacKeil started the scoring on a breakaway for a power play goal.

The defense really held their own in front of Dillon Bloom who came up with some big saves. The offense took a bunch of shots as the Waltham goalie made some tremendous saves and at the second period the score still remained 1-0.

Four minutes into the third period Waltham tied it up and then took the lead for good on a power play goal. Waltham potted two additional goals before MacKeil got a Wilmington goal on a pass from Keck. Waltham then capped the scoring with a late goal to end the game 5-2 and win the tournament.

U12 RedCats

The Girls U12 Red Cats took on the Cambridge Falcons at the Samoni rink in Cambridge on Sunday night and turned in their most impressive performance of the year in posting a 4-0 shutout. Goalie Cora Barrett was unbeatable all night in a great performance.

The Red Cats came out charging in the first period with the line of Julia Ryan, Meredith Chase and Jocelyn Palmer getting sustained pressure and some great chances early on.

The first period ended scoreless, but the hard work paid off in the second period when Palmer put away a rebound of a Ryan shot to make it 1-0.

The Red Cats scored again in the second period with Erin Carter finding back of the net on a breakaway following great hustle from Aliana Sampson and an alert outlet pass from Emily Hayden.

The Red Cats played disciplined smart defensive hockey throughout the game with Maddie Sjostedt, Lauren Pichette, Kendra Previoso, and Bridget O'Shea making one smart play after another in keeping pucks in the offensive zone, making superb outlet passes and breaking up scoring opportunities for the Falcons.

The line of Payton Fuller, Melanie Hayden and Madeline Courtney saw to it that this game was going to be in the win column with Fuller netting two goals in the third period to give her team some breathing room.

Throughout the game, goalie Cora Barrett put on a tremendous performance in getting the shutout, with many saves being of the spectacular variety.

The Red Cats have really hit their stride as of late, and were very excited over their second shutout of the year, streaming off the bench to congratulate their goalie and each other at the final buzzer.

Tewksbury Squirt 1's battle with Beverly and Wilmington

The Redmen Squirt 1 team played Beverly and Wilmington during the February vacation weekend.

The Redmen first took on the Beverly Panthers. The Redmen were without defensive standout Alexis Raymond to help stop the vaunted Panther offense. Though without Raymond, the Route 38 players had all purpose-player Ryan Quinn helping to patrol the net area.

The Redmen dominated the first period controlling the puck in the Panther's zone. The offense led by Alex Pescatore, Jack Shreenan and Lydia Pendleton forced the Panthers back on their heels. Being trailed by two Panther defenders, Pendleton rushed into the corner of the Panther zone, got the puck and back handed it in front of the net to Pescatore. Pescatore just missed lighting the lamp as the puck hit the blade of his stick and bounced off the goalies pad. Shreenan got the rebound but his backhand clanged off the post.

The line of Connor Preble, Abby O'Keefe and Aaron Connelly continued the up-beat tempo keeping Beverly's defense off-balance. Preble made a great no-look pass to Connelly in front of the net but was blocked by a Panther defender.

Later on, Defenseman Joey Osborne stole the puck and soared into the Panther's zone for the breakaway. However the goalie blocked Ozy's shot with his stick at the last second. Moments later Preble found O'Keefe rushing the net. The pass was perfect right onto O'Keefe's stick but the puck ricocheted past the post.

Goalie Dylan Swimm then made two crucial saves in the final seconds of the period to keep the Panthers at bay.

Down 3-0, the Redmen went on the attack again. Danny Kusmaul found Pescatore soaring up the center of the ice. Kusmaul's precision pass to Pescatore who put a quick wrist shot that hit off the goalie's blocker.

With 21.5 seconds to go in the second period Ryan Quinn lit the lamp. It started in the defensive zone where Defenseman Andrew Camelio stole the puck and skated up the ice. He then found Kusmaul at the blue line. Kusmaul made a quick deke move, skated around one defender then made the hard pass to Quinn who wristed the shot passed the goalie to cut the Panther lead 3-1.

In the beginning of the third, Defenseman Sean Murphy got the Redmen within a goal as he went coast to coast with the puck and then buried it in the net. Despite a Redmen comeback attempt, the Panthers held on to win the game.

The Redmen went looking for redemption against the Wilmington Wildcats. In their previous meeting the Wildcats won 4-1. Still without defenseman Alexis Raymond, the team shuffled the deck and placed Lydia Pendleton and Ryan Quinn on defense. The tough tandem stifled the Wildcat offensive attacks right from the start of play. Tough guy Aaron Connelly teamed up with Joey Osborne as the second defensive line. Connelly's tough-ice dog play along with Osborne's finesse style gave the Redmen a Ying-Yang defensive look that confused the Wildcat shooters.

At the 10:56 mark the Redmen got on the scoreboard. Getting the call up from defense to forward Andrew Camelio connected with Jack Shreenan for the goal. Camelio gathered the puck and skated into the offensive end, the Wildcat defense pursued the quick Camelio leaving Shreenan alone in front. Camelio then made a crisp pass to Shreenan for the one-timer.

With Wilmington on the power play, Swimm made a kick save to move the puck away from the net. Quinn got the rebound and passed it to Pendleton who flipped it out of the zone to stop the threat.

In the second period, Connor Preble found Sean Murphy for the Redmen's second goal. Preble made a quick stop turnaround pass to Murphy, who then went high for the shot knocking the water bottle of the top of the net. Two minutes later, Shreenan scored his second goal of the game off of Camelio's second assist to put the Redmen up 3-1.

The defensive lines of Quinn and Pendleton and Osborne and Connelly continued their defensive juggernaut on Wilmington.

Camelio scored the Redmen's fourth goal assisted by Danny Kusmaul. Kusmaul went in the middle towards the net. Confronted by two defenders, Kusmaul passed the puck to the open Camelio who blasted it past the goalie.

Moments later the line of Preble, Murphy and O'Keefe scored the fifth and final Redmen goal. Murphy passed the puck to Preble who passed it to O'Keefe. O'Keefe slammed the puck into the net. As the buzzer sound to end the game, the team then saluted Goalie Dylan Swimm for his 12 save performance.

AAA Mites

The Tewksbury Redmen Mite AAA Hockey team kicked off the school vacation week with a 4-3 win over first place Triton on Tuesday February 19th at Haverhill Valley Forum.

The Redmen came out flying and took an early 1-0 lead just 24 seconds into the game when Center Jason Cooke fired a wrist shot over the goalie's blocker, assist to Billy Doherty.

The Redmen kept attacking and had some great chances to increase their lead when Left Wing Jack Griffin used his speed to blow past a Triton defenseman and fired a hard wrist shot on net. Nick Calouro jumped on the rebound but his shot just missed the far post.

Triton showed why they are a first place team and used their team speed to create pressure on the Redmen but great defensive efforts from Conor Cremin and Andrew Grieco kept the puck away from the Redmen net.

With 4:25 left in the first period the Redmen had a great scoring chance when Brady Chapman and Jason Cooke worked the 2-on-1 to perfection but Chapman's wrist shot landed in the goalie's catching glove.

The second period was much like the first, a hard fought, up and down battle between two great teams. Triton had early chances to take the lead but Redmen Goalie Ben O'Keefe made back-to-back saves that even had the referees cheering for him. The Redmen took a 2-1 lead with 7:08 left in the second period when Jason Cooke scored his second goal of the game on a wicked wrist shot that the goalie never saw, assists to Andrew Della Piana and Brady Chapman.

Triton was determined to tie the game and had a great chance on a 2-on-1 but Redmen Defenseman Andrew Grieco made an outstanding play to break up the play. Grieco then skated the puck through center ice and sent a pretty cross-ice pass to Matt Cooke who skated in and fired a hard wrist shot that rang off the left post. Triton was able to tie the game 2-2 with 3:28 left in the second period and they had a chance to take the lead with just over a minute to play in the period but Redmen Defenseman Danny Kierce made a great diving play to break up a sure goal.

Jack Griffin worked hard on the forecheck and stole the puck from a Triton defenseman, sending a quick pass to the slot area where Conor Cremin gathered the puck and fired a hard wrist shot that the goalie saved. Triton had its own chances but Goalie Ben O'Keefe made three saves.

The Redmen once again took the lead with 6:05 left in the game when Jason Cooke registered the hat trick, taking the puck from one end of the ice to the other and blowing a wrist shot past the goalie, assist to Andrew Grieco. Triton knotted the game up once again with 4:35 left in the game and with 2:32 left in the game went on the powerplay.

Triton nearly took the lead but with the puck trickling on the goal line, Redmen Defenseman Andrew Della Piana swooped in and knocked the puck away before it crossed the goal line. The Redmen "PK" unit killed off the remainder of the penalty and with 40 seconds left in the game took the lead for good when Matt Cooke fired a hard wrist shot into the corner of the net, assists to Brady Chapman and Jason Cooke.

Triton pulled their goalie but the Redmen secured the 4-3 win.

Redcats GU 12

The U12 Red Cats Girls Hockey team came away with a hard fought 2-1 victory over the Marlboro Nighthawks.

It was a competitive battle from the drop of the puck with Red Cats goalie Melanie Hayden being called upon to make a couple of clutch saves. At the other end of the rink, Meredith Chase and Aliana Sampson kept pouring on the heat with outstanding chances in tight. Only a few diving saves by the Nighthawks goalie kept the Red Cats off the board.

Having good net front presence paid off when the Red Cats broke through late in the first period on a nice goal from Kendra Prezioso who smacked home a pass near the crease from Carolyn Curley.

On defense, Lauren Pichette and Bridget O'Shea did a nice job clearing away rebounds and making nice outlet passes out of their zone to keep the Nighthawks off the board.

In the second period the Nighthawks tied the game 1-1, but for the remainder of the period Emily Hayden, Madelyn Courtney, Payton Fuller, and Jocelyn Palmer played strong two way hockey, hustling and outworking their opponents for loose pucks showing great passion and determination.

When the Nighthawks did get a quick flurry of opportunities in the middle period, Melanie Hayden again came up big, making three outstanding saves including one on a breakaway which drew loud, extended applause from the crowd.

Aliana Sampson who played a stand out game, almost had the go ahead goal early in the third with a shot from in close that appeared to go in, but got covered up in the crease.

Julia Ryan got the game winning goal on a breakaway, making a beautiful deke on the goalie faking the wrist shot and skillfully taking it to the backhand and tucking it in the corner.

Hustle, alert play and clutch goaltending was the formula for victory as the Red Cats skated away with a well-deserved win.

feiting the consolation finals to Anthony Schena of Plymouth South.

Shawsheen's Dustin Thibault also snagged a fourth place finish at 182 pounds. After winning the sectional tournament in his weight class the week before he picked up right where he left off with a pin of Brendan Miller of Franklin in 3:12 in his first match. He was pinned by Shawn Donahue of Braintree in his second match, but came back to win three matches in a row before losing a hard fought 5-4 decision to Jered Escribano of Springfield Central in the consolation finals.

Bryce Spinosa won two matches at 106 pounds to finish eighth, while Ryan Powderly (120), Nick Hoar (170) and Joe Steen (285) won one match each.

In the All-State Tournament, held at Salem High School, Pratt earned a third place finish which qualified him for the All New England Tournament. Pratt rolled through most of the tournament with only his nemesis Viruet standing in the way of a perfect day.

He started his day with a 15-0 technical fall win over Nolan Cornu of Hopkinton and followed that up with a 14-4 major decision win over Henry Carpio of Lawrence. After dropping a 5-2 decision to Viruet, Pratt came back with a 7-0 win over Ryan Chapman of Pembroke and pinned James Clasen of Chelmsford in the consolation finals in 5:00, gaining revenge for a loss to Clasen in the sectional tournament.

In this weekend's New England Tournament Pratt will take on New Milford, Connecticut's Kameron Bradshaw in the first round and if he is able to win there he will move on to face Vermont state champion Dylan Shattuck of St. Johnsbury High School

BOYS HOCKEY

They don't know who they will be playing yet, but the Shawsheen Tech Boys hockey team will open post season play in the quarter-finals of the Division 3 North Sectional Tournament on Saturday at a time and site still to be determined when The Town Crier went to press on Wednesday afternoon.

The Rams, seeded fourth in Division 3 North with a 13-6-1 overall record will take on the winner of Thursday's first round matchup between fifth seeded Lowell Catholic and 12th seeded Latin Academy.

Whoever the Rams end up playing, they will be faced with a stiff challenge. Lowell Catholic (11-6-4) of the Catholic Central League Division 2, is led by the scoring of junior forward Will O'Neil who has 15 goals and 10 assists for 25 points on the season, along with junior forward Aaron Crandall who has chipped in with 10 goals and 14 assists.

Daniel Curran will be tough to beat in net for Lowell Catholic, with a 1.99 Goals Against Average and four shutouts on the season.

Latin Academy finished just 9-10-1 overall, but were champions of the Boston City League with a 5-0 record within the loop. They will be led offensively by junior forward Mark Guerard who finished with 19 goals and 8 assists, while senior forward Paul O'Keefe had 11 goals and 18 assists.

Shawsheen will of course provide quite the test for either team that advances to take them on. Shawsheen was 1-4 at one point during the season before winning nine out of ten games in one stretch and going 12-2-1 overall from that low point in the season.

The Rams are not the most prolific scoring team in the tournament, but they have spread their scoring around very well this season, with senior Nolan Gaffey of Wilmington leading the way 9-7-16 totals, while fellow Wilmington resident, junior Brandon Gentile follows close behind at 9-6-15. Junior Ryan Capraro (7-6-13) of Tewksbury has also contributed to the balanced attack.

Between the pipes it has been senior Matt Curran of Tewksbury who has gotten the job done with a 2.10 GAA and five shutouts on the season.

The Wilmington High School Varsity Winter Cheerleading team ended its season recently. The team includes, not in order: Seniors Kiley Burke, Taylor Howlett, Shannon McHugh, Brittany Zavvagnini and McKayla Hersom; Juniors Shauna Mazzie, Danielle Rae, Danielle Reynolds, Allie Silva and Julie Welch; Sophomores Savannah Sullivan and Samantha Worob; and Freshmen Montana Howlett, Olivia Petrucci, Mikailia Russell and Rachel Spada. Discover the winter secrets of this summer delight

By Paige Impink
Special to the Crier

If you are suffering from cabin fever and need to get out, why not try a day trip up to Ogunquit, Maine? This fifty-minute ride could be just the escape you need to shake off those mid-winter blues. Head out early and grab a morning bite at The Stonewall Kitchen, right at exit 7 off route 95 in York, Maine. The café is open for a brief window of time on the weekends so check their web-site. From Stonewall, head north on Route 1 to the hamlet of Ogunquit and get ready for an invigorating walk.

The views from any point along the paved, one mile Marginal Way are at once stunning and humbling. The long, level beach and its crashing, icy waves offer a contrast to the high, perilous cliffs from where you'll take your vantage. It is the kind of view where one says "wow" out loud.

Try a visit in February or March when the buzzing town has shuttered itself for the rough winter. There is no better time to enjoy this vista unimpeded than when less brave souls ne'er venture out. Bundle up, grab a steaming cup of cocoa at The Village Market, and embark on the pathway winding from Ogunquit Beach to Perkins Cove.

The well-maintained footpath skirts homes and inns, seasonal motels, and manicured gardens. These folks have a slice of nature that keeps on giving long after the tourists and sunshine are gone.

Once you make it to the cove, hustle inside Jackie's Too and order up some steaming chowder and crunchy oyster crackers. Get your hands re-warmed by mugs of coffee, and enjoy the scenery now from the coziness of your table. Perhaps you'll save some crackers for the gulls on your walk back.

Don't forget to drive to Nubble Light as you head back south. This wonderful lighthouse is picturesque and a superb photo-op in next door York, Maine. While no visitors are allowed on the island, you can park and visit even in the cold weather. The gift shop and restrooms are only open mid-May to October, but you can walk around to read the information panels and soak in the scene. Imagine getting to and from school via the suspended bucket and pulley system!

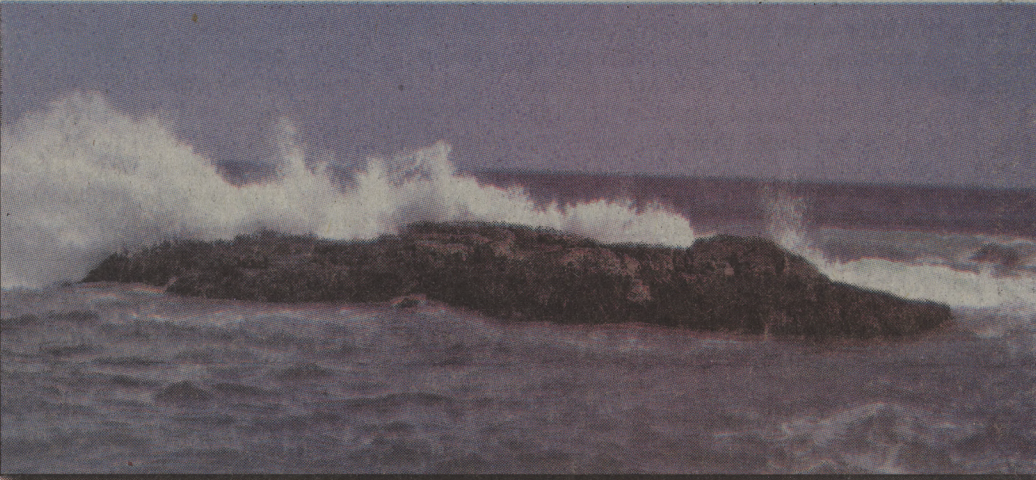

There are often artists painting the lighthouse scene in acrylics and watercolors, and they are very happy to chat.

On your way home you may feel the urge to splurge and investigate the Kittery

Outlets. A fixture on Route 1 for many years, the Kittery Outlets offer something for everyone. A fun stop is the Kittery Trading Post, full of gear for the outdoorsman, or the "wanna-be" Daniel Boone. Artisanal bakery When Pigs Fly Bread Company also has a pizzeria in Kittery which can provide a warm and satisfying end to your coastal Maine adventure. Get out of the cabin and cure that fever!

Oscar Roundup

Here's our expert follow-up, if you missed the hub-bub or booked a table at trivia night!

BY ANNIE WHITEHOUSE
Special to the Crier

The 85th annual Academy Awards were this Sunday, and they came with a fair deal of surprises, laughs, and cringes. Between the incredibly heated Best Picture race and the strong apprehension about host Seth Macfarlane's potentially offensive set, the night couldn't be anything but memorable. And there were certainly a few moments that floored us all.

The Host With the Most

Anyone who has ever seen Family Guy knew that the Academy took a big risk in choosing traditionally foul-mouthed funnyman Seth Macfarlane as the host of the big night. What many didn't realize was that Macfarlane is a classically trained singer with a strong reverence for Broadway - so the night's theme, "musicals," worked to his advantage in many ways (the rather offensive pre-taped musical number "We Saw

Your Boobs" notwithstanding). He wasn't consistently on-point, but Macfarlane's tap-dancing, Sinatra-singing revues were a fun, light-hearted way to open up the night. As far as his jokes? Macfarlane definitely struck gold once or twice - introducing Meryl Streep by saying, "This next presenter needs no introduction" and proceeding to exit the stage was pure genius - but there were also some squirm-worthy moments. Overall, I felt he balanced good old-fashioned fun with edgy jabs enough to make him a better host than your standard shock-jock Ricky Gervais (the two-time host of the Golden Globes) or last year's incredibly lackluster tag-team, James Franco and Anne Hathaway. If the Academy wanted to reach out to the youth, Macfarlane was the right way to go - after all, ratings were up 11 percent from 2012 after a long history of steady decline.

Snubs and Surprises

didn't come with many surprises - a lot of categories were cut and dry this year - but there were a few upsets. Those participating in Oscar pools had a conniption when the usually overlooked category of Sound Editing threw everything for a loop - Skyfall and Zero Dark Thirty tied for the top prize, the first tie since 1994 and the 6th tie in Oscar history. Jennifer Lawrence's Best Actress win didn't raise any eyebrows, but her big spill on the way to the stage was all that anyone was talking about at the water cooler. Fans were delighted that heartthrobs Bradley Cooper and Hugh Jackman raced to her aid right away - it's always nice to see that Hollywood big shots are more than just a pretty face! A different kind of shock came in the form of Ang Lee taking home the prize for Best Director - a big snub for Oscar veteran Steven Spielberg, especially as this was one of the only non-visual wins for epic CGI (computer generated images) adventure Life of Pi. Spielberg's Lincoln under-performed in a big way - after much buzz about Best Picture and Best Director, Lincoln only walked away with honors for editing and for Honest Abe himself, Daniel Day-Lewis (his 3rd acting Oscar to date).

A Presidential Shocker

The biggest surprise of the night came in the form of one FLOTUS making a special guest appearance via webcam to crown the Best Picture winner, Argo. We all know Michelle Obama is comfortable in the public eye - her latest turn as co-star in Jimmy Fallon's "Evolution of Mom Dancing Video" is a real gem - but her Oscar appearance was so delightfully unexpected that it perked up even the sleepiest viewers (the awards ran until just past midnight this year). She graciously put on a brave face for Argo, although she revealed earlier in the week that her pick for Best Picture was Beasts of the Southern Wild - what a diplomat!

Brownie Troop 63124 at Reading Co-Operative Bank

Learned and earned Saving

WILMINGTON - The Brownie Scout Troop 63124 of Wilmington recently completed the requirements to receive their financial education badge. All members of the troop attended a course given by local accountant, Eileen Marsan, and they learned about how money placed in an interest bearing account will grow because of the interest it earns. Brownies were informed of how compounding interest works and how it makes their investment grow even more quickly. Each Brownie received a certificate at the end of the program. After the completion of the program, the Brownies were taken to open savings accounts at the Reading Cooperative Bank at its office located at the Trade Center in Woburn and each brownie was given a $10 roll of quarters to start their saving habit. The Reading Cooperative Bank was chosen based on the fact that it is a highly rated bank that has been invested in the local area, including Reading, Woburn, Wilmington, Burlington, North Reading, and Andover since its inception in 1886.

Richard Selig, the manager of the Trade Center branch, assisted each Brownie separately to opened their savings account and the tellers Crystal Hodson and Elena Dluzeski showed each Brownies how the money was placed into the bank records and each was given their passbook. Alba Frasco, Troop leader, along with parents would like to thank Eileen Marsan for the generous donation to each girl and we would also like to thank Reading Cooperative bank.

OBITUARIES

Thomas J. Galka

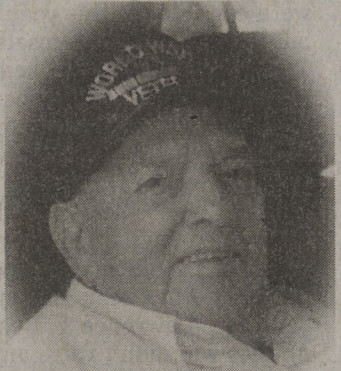

WWII veteran; teamster; outdoorsman who lead a very interesting life

WILMINGTON - Thomas J. Galka, age 91, a life-long resident of Wilmington, died peacefully on February 23, 2013, at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington. Tom was born at home in Wilmington on December 20, 1921, he was the cherished son of the late Anthony and Julia (Pulkowska) Galka.

Tom was one of eleven siblings that were raised and educated in Wilmington. Tom graduated from Wilmington High School and went right to work. Tom worked at Camp Devens, Harriman's Tannery and Wilmington Coal to help support his family. He also spent time working for United Construction at a dry dock in the ship yard in Charlestown.

In 1942, Tom went off to serve our country in the US Army during World War II; he spent 2½ years in North Africa, Italy, Messina and Sicily. Tom was assigned to more than 20 Divisions during his time in the service; they included the 442nd Infantry which was a Japanese and American Unit, while in Sicily he was with a unit under General Patton and was witness to him slapping a soldier. Tom also drove Ambulance #11 in the 54th Medical Battalion, 379th Collecting Company. Tom was a well decorated Veteran, he received many commendations including the European Theatre Medal, Asiatic-European Medal, Arrowhead Lapel Pin for Invasion, Good Conduct Medal, and American Victory Medal, as well as 2 Silver Stars for major battles, the Combat Medic Badge, 1st Edition, and a Bronze Star. Following his honorable discharge, Tom returned home to Wilmington and his family.

Tom had a great work ethic, he went to work as a long haul truck driver for Warren A. McCarty, transporting trucks throughout New England, New York and Pennsylvania. Tom became a member of the Teamsters Local #42 out of Lynn. He also drove for Allstate Sand and Gravel and Red-E-Mix for 31 years. Tom retired from truck driving on January 1, 1983 at the age of 62, following many years of dedicated service to each company.

After retiring, Tom did a lot of traveling, especially in Maine and New Hampshire. He loved the outdoors and the woods in Northern Maine and NH, always exploring new territory to hunt and fish. Tom spent much of his time hunting, trapping and fishing in up north and due to his extensive knowledge he was even asked to be a Maine Guide. One of his more memorable trips was when he guided Ted Williams on a trout fishing trip. Tom had several hunting dogs that he loved, they enjoyed hunting bear and deer, he also trapped muskrats, foxes, and raccoons. Tom was also an avid ice fisherman and enjoyed deep sea fishing. Tom had his own spot in Lancaster, NH that his family referred to as "Uncle Tom's Cabin"; he just loved spending time there.

Tom's other love was racing. He worked with his brother Pete on racing cars.

They would take them all over New England and New York and entered them in many championship races.

In his spare time, Tom enjoyed gardening; he grew his own vegetables and flowers, that he shared with family and friends. Tom also liked to make "homemade" Christmas Trees that he would carefully decorate and give away to family and friends, he also made a tree for each family member that had passed and would go out to the cemetery and decorate their graves.

Tom will be fondly remembered as a kind and generous man, he was a hard worker, thoughtful, very patriotic, dedicated to his family, and he was a true friend to many. He will be greatly missed.

Tom was the beloved son of the late Anthony and Julia (Pulkowska) Galka, dear brother of Francis Galka of Winchester, Betty Chisholm of Littleton, NH, the late Sophie Stachelek, Helen Dango, Gladys Puchowski, Alice, Joseph, Waclaw "Vut", Peter, and Adam Galka. Tom was also the loving uncle of four generations of nieces and nephews and is survived by many dear friends.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Friday, March 1st at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Thomas Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington, at 10:00 a.m. Interment with Military Honors will follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Visiting hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Thursday, February 28th from 4-8 p.m. Memorial donations in Tom's name may be made to Local Heroes, Inc., P. O. Box 536, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Notes from the Tewksbury Historical Society

A Disaster Area

TEWKSBURY - The annual New Members Meeting slated for Saturday afternoon will feature some disasters. We read about disasters in the world every day in our newspapers and on television. Tewksbury has had a few very notable disasters from storms and man-made events.

Kim Zunino, a Tewksbury member of the Board of Directors, will be giving a keynote talk on the great Cartridge Company Explosion that happened in the early 1900's. It could be heard from miles around and people came from miles around to look at the grim scene.

A videotape presentation on the Great Flood of the Merrimack River in 1936 will also be shown.

Louise Hunt, a long-standing member of the Society is on the tape doing some commenting. The Merrimack River forms the northern border of Tewksbury. These stories and more will be featured at 1:00 pm at the Tewksbury Library on March 2, 2013. The event is open to the public and free. Refreshments will be served. The Society Store will be open for business. The public is invited to come and be a member of the Society. The Store features educational books about Tewksbury History. Fourth Graders from the North Street School wrote a book named Our Town. The book is one of our most popular books and is enjoying its second printing. This will be available for sale at the meeting.

A cornerstone of the mission of the Tewksbury Historical Society is to help and foster research into Tewksbury history. The other two missions of the Society are to preserve Tewksbury history and to educate the public about local history. The "New Members Meeting" is an annual event and it is a chance for new members to meet old members and to see what happens at Society membership meeting. The Society maintains a presence in the Tewksbury Library's Local History room every Tuesday from 3:30-5:30. Come and visit and look at our extensive photographic collection.

Tell us your local history story! Information on the Society and Tewksbury history is available at tewksburyhistoricalsociety.com or tewksburyhistoricalsociety.org.

Yes, he did plant those kisses on himself! With a little help from his friends, Jason Moore balanced 21 Hershey Kisses on his head as he competed in the Chocolate Olympics at the Wilmington Memorial Library on February 20. This was one of the events at the Chocolate Olympics where kids had fun competing in various events using chocolate candy. Courtesy photo

Notes from Buzzell Senior Center

Ready for the tax man?
The Senior Center can help

WILMINGTON - March is here and the first official day of Spring is Wednesday, March 20, 2013. The next few months the Wilmington Department of Elderly Services will offer new programs and a number of fun events. Remember, this is the month that clocks "spring ahead" on Sunday March 10, 2013.

Our computer volunteer is here in the computer room every Tuesday morning from 9:30 AM to 11:30 AM to answer your computer questions, so feel free to drop in.

On Thursday mornings, we will again be offering a 4 week computer class, and each session will be taught as one block of instruction. Once a class session has begun, we will not be able to accept any "walk-ins" as it would not be fair for those who are already enrolled.

Because we have a waiting list for beginner help, we will again offer "Introduction to Computers" on Thursday mornings for 4 weeks. It is for new users of computers, those looking to refresh their memories, or "start over again". We will start on Thursday, March 7th, and end on March 28th. Classes will be for two (2) hours from 9:30AM to 11:30AM. If you are interested, please sign up or call the front desk as the size of the class will be limited to three students.

The Wilmington Department of Elderly Services will once again provide free income tax assistance for Wilmington residents through the IRS sponsored Volunteer Income Tax Program. It will be held at the Wilmington Town Hall auditorium, scheduled appointments can be arranged through the Buzzell Senior Center - 978-657-7595. The program began on Wednesday, February 6, 2013 and will run through Wednesday, April 10, 2013. Appointments are scheduled on Wednesdays only - between 9:00 AM - 12:15 PM. All returns are prepared with computer accuracy and with electronic filing for rapid refunds. Clients should bring this year's tax information along with last year's tax returns to their appointments. Please make any transportation arrangements at the same time you make your tax appointment.

Ever wanted to learn the traditions, songs, and dances of the beautiful Polynesian culture? Do you have interest in learning how to dance hula? With several years of Polynesian dance and tradition experience, Paz Mendoza has a passion for sharing "Aloha" with others. By joining her class, you will experience lower impact exercise while learning traditional songs and dances. We then hope to perform on Thursday, May 9, 2013 at our "Hawaiian Lei Day" luncheon. Come join the fun on Thursdays, from 3:30-4:30PM, starting April 4, 2013 through April 25, 2013. Sign up now at front desk of the Buzzell Senior Center.

The ability to stay mobile and independent is crucial for both physical and emotional wellbeing. What is your mobility? Do you have a difficult time going over thresholds, walking comfortably, going up and down stairs, and/or making it through the grocery store? On Wednesday, March 13 at 1:30PM come learn more about your mobility and how to maintain your walking independence presented by Leonardo Physical Therapy. Then enjoy a follow-up discussion on Wednesday, March 20 at 1:30PM about mobility equipment. Assistive products can help you get around on your own and feel safer by providing a better sense of security as you move. From walking canes to motorized scooters, choosing these devices takes time and research. Take advantage of a great opportunity to ask questions and find out what can work best for you.

We would like to thank the Rotary and Rotary Interact Club for making Valentine's Day so special. We would like to thank the students for serving the meal and Jack Cushing for his special chocolate chip cookies. We would also like to thank our "Fun Singers" lead by Marge Lamkin for performing many romantic ballads that set the mood and to John Wallace and Robin Theodis for the great basket raffles. We would to give a special thank you to Jennifer Kennedy, who started the "Sweet Cupids". This woman took it upon herself to start a hand-made Valentine card making chain. It started in Wilmington, but by creative word quickly spread and there are card artists from Maine all the way to Maryland helping out! Some cards were made by preschoolers, some by professional artists, and some by ordinary folks with a big heart. Because of such great spirit and love, she was able to collect and distribute nearly 700 Valentine's. Jennifer had Valentine's for our entire Home Delivered Meal program (80 participants) and for 100 guests at our Valentine's Celebration. She was able to give the others to the local nursing homes and assisted living. We thank her very much for her inspiration and talent.

The Dance Company
909 Main Street, Wilmington
978-658-3221

www.thedancecompanyma.com

This year The Dance Company will be celebrating its 15th year with over 500 current students and a teaching staff of 14.

The Dance Company is located at 909 Main Street, Wilmington. Most of our classes are for school age children - ages 2.5 to 18 - but we also offer adult classes too. Outside of the classes, we have performance teams that travels to competition also do community events.

We attribute the success of the studio to our love of dance, our commitment to our students to ensure they are both learning and enjoying the program, and parents encouraging and supporting their child's desire to dance. We are continuously seeking talented instructors and hold them to a standard which primarily concerns the well-being of our students and their families' satisfaction. When you are doing something you genuinely enjoy, it comes naturally and brings you a lot of satisfaction.

We believe dance is important for the young. Dance lessons can teach children self-confidence, self-discipline, poise and grace. A child introduced to dance at an early age will likely develop a love of the arts and a passion for rhythm and movement. Most importantly, dancing is lots of fun!

The Dance Company is owned and operated by Kathaleen Rooney-Gray a life-long resident of Wilmington.

The young families in town are genuinely involved in their children's activities and seem to participate at a high level. I see that not only in my business, but with their children's sports activities, community events and benefits. People who have good experiences share that with others. The studio has benefited from students and parents who share the positive experience they have here at The Dance Company. I am also able to enjoy seeing lifelong friends I've had since attending school in Wilmington bring their little ones in to learn to dance and we reconnect.

This member profile is provided by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. To have your business highlighted here contact Executive Director Nancy Vallee at 978-657-7211.

SnowCare for Troops Seeks Volunteers

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Frequent moves and unexpected deployments are just a few of the stresses impacting the families of the nearly 1.5 million active duty men and women serving in the U.S. armed forces. Along with the stress that comes with family separation, military spouses of deployed troops left to manage the household alone face the added stress of tackling these daily chores with little support.

Volunteers can help ease their burden this winter by joining Project EverGreen's SnowCare for Troops (SCFT) to provide free snow removal services to active duty members of the armed forces. The national program is underwritten by THE BOSS Snowplow. Now in its third year, SCFT has 1,200 volunteers signed up to help more than 1,500 military families. Many volunteers are snow removal and landscape contracting professionals.

"It takes a very special person to give of their time and resources to back up our troops and their families. We want to thank BOSS and our many volunteers who go the extra mile to make sure they're taken care of," said Cindy Code, Project EverGreen executive director. "We know there are many opportunities to help our military families and we're pleased to see the positive impact that SCFT is having on those who already sacrifice so much."

Volunteers who want to help can give to SCFT in these ways:

- * Assisting one or two military families locally with snow and ice removal in their communities;
- * Enlisting others to join the cause and encouraging military families to register for the program;
- * Donating money or gas cards to offset snow removal and maintenance costs; and
- * Lending snow removal equipment to volunteers or groups.

According to a 2012 Blue Star Families' Military Lifestyle Survey, 95 percent reported feeling that most Americans "do not truly understand or appreciate the sacrifices made by service members and their families."

Service programs like SCFT are helping to bridge the gap in understanding between civilians and military families while providing critical community support. Military families with deployed loved ones are invited to participate in SCFT by completing an online registration form with Project EverGreen. Project EverGreen will match military families with volunteers available in their service area.

Project EverGreen is a national non-profit promoting the positive effects of well-maintained green spaces. To become a volunteer or register as a military family visit projectevergreen.com/scft/become-a

"World Gone Crazy Band - The Comedic Rock & Roll Circus" makes its North Reading debut

Stand up comedy with musical song parodies & BIG laughs

NORTH READING - One of the most unique comedy shows in a long time is making its way to the Great American Tavern in North Reading, MA next month. "World Gone Crazy: The Comedic Rock & Roll Circus" will perform as part of the brand new Comedy Night Series on Saturday, March 2nd at 9:00pm. Tickets are $15.00 at the door.

Conceived and launched as a humorous show for lovers of both stand up comedy and rock and roll - "The World Gone Crazy Band" was created by two north shore natives: Radio song parody king and stand up comedian Mikey Coleman (WZLX, WBZ Radio) and author, film maker and entertainment producer Gary Marino (ABC's Live with Regis & Kelly, "Million Calorie March: The Movie").

"It's really a 90 minute comedy therapy session for people" says Marino. Song parodies, stand up comedy, fake commercials, impressions, sing-alongs and plenty of audience interaction is all part of this spirited, hysterical and twisted tribute to our world. "We all need to laugh because let's face it...the world literally HAS gone crazy" says Coleman.

The show - a four piece band whose members also perform stand up - debuted in 2011 and has been touring New England resorts, casinos and special events ever since. Audiences love it when their favorite rock star has a wicked sense of humor up there and by the same token we love it when stand up comedian straps on a guitar at the end of his set and can play like a pro. The idea was to capture that in a bottle for people," says Marino. Currently on their "The Over Every Cliff Tour" the band has been performing cuts from their brand new release "Comedic Rock & Roll Circus".

The combined experience and background of the individual members covers both the comedy and music worlds - with Coleman and Marino coming from the comedy world and keyboardist Will E. Focker and guitarist Peter Rebell coming from the live music world.

The World Gone Crazy Band is:
Mike Coleman - Vocals and guitar
Gary "Sticky Foot" Marino - Drums and vocals
Peter Rebell and vocals
Will E. Focker - keyboards

Burlington teacher wins second place at New England Regionals Competitive yoga strikes a pose

By PAUL FEELY

Forget about achieving inner peace and finding relaxation. The sport of competitive yoga is on the rise, and a yoga teacher from the Middlesex East readership area will soon head to New York City to compete in one of the fastest growing and competitive sports fields in the country.

Last month, USA Yoga hosted its New England Regional Yoga Asana Championship at the Natick Mall, with competitive yogis from all over the region coming to strike a pose. A panel of judges crowned winners in male, female, and youth categories (Christopher Bopp, Ashley Ogilvy, and Jennifer Ziel, respectively) all of whom, along with each category's runner up, will go on to compete in the 10th annual National USA Yoga Asana Championship in New York in March.

Bikram Yoga Burlington teacher Steven Phan won second place in the male division for the State of Massachusetts at the New England Regional Yoga Asana Championship in Natick. Next month, he heads to New York City to vie for a chance to compete internationally in June.

Studies show over 22 million people in the US now practice yoga and many health studies have begun to prove what yoga practitioners of all disciplines already know - yoga can change your life for the better. People of all ages from childhood to old age can improve their physical, mental, emotional and spiritual health through the practice of yoga postures, or asanas.

The hope of USA Yoga and its regional supporters is to reach out to those people who have yet to realize this on their own.

"The more people who practice yoga the healthier our nation will be," said Phan. "We can reduce the rates of heart disease, diabetes, childhood and adult obesity, depression and so much more. By holding these friendly competitions or demonstrations in public places like malls, we can reach people who normally might not be aware of yoga and the many health benefits it offers. Those who are aware can be re-inspired to stay involved and to stay healthy."

Says Bikram Yoga Burlington studio owner Sara

Curry, "This yoga has the ability to change lives and we help people do it every day. It is a therapeutic series that has the ability to improve the health and function of all bodies regardless of age, experience or health."

Competitive yoga originated in India and has been practiced for more than 1,000 years. It has taken off in the past decade. Almqvist said organizers are pushing to make it an Olympic sport.

Each competitor has a routine, similar to gymnastics, and is judged based on how well they perform. The routine must match specific baselines and must be three minutes long.

Competitors are judged on execution, style, gracefulness and movement among other factors. If competitors don't hold their poses steady or face the wrong way, points are deducted.

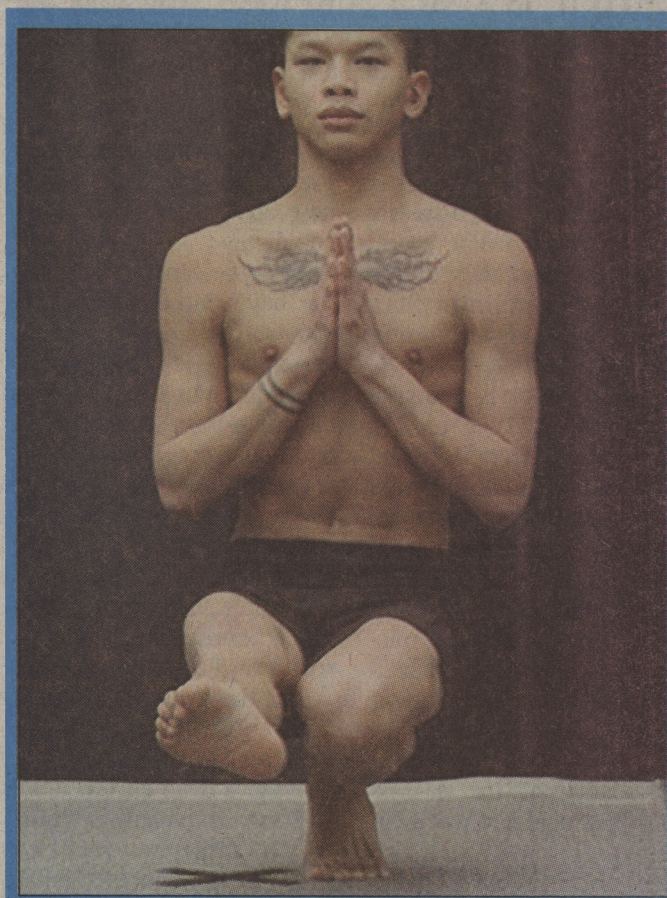

"There are some who feel competition seems contradictory to the philosophy of yoga," said Phan. However, it is important to note that this is not a battle to win a medal but instead a personal display for each athlete of what they have accomplished through their yoga practice. Many have come from places of injury or despair and put themselves back together with their yoga."

Yoga competition is the "athletic" or sport side of yoga. Competitors perform seven postures in a three-minute sequence in front of a panel of judges. Each competitor is required to show standing head to knee pose, standing bow pose, floor bow, rabbit pose, stretching pose, and two additional postures of his/her choice. Postures have specific criteria and aspects that judges are looking for. For example, in standing head to knee and standing bow, judges closely watch and judge the athletes ability to balance and hold still without wobbling or shaking.

"To get up on stage and balance without wavering, to show how they have transformed body and mind is an act of self-realization and of personal fulfillment," said Phan. "This ability to maintain one's peace in the midst of a challenge epitomizes the philosophy of yoga and is a shining moment in the life of the yogi. It is a beautiful thing to witness."

Phan, a gifted athlete, decided to try competition just two weeks before the Regionals.

"It's like a game with him," said fellow competitor and New Hampshire Silver Medalist, Jason Destasio. "If we can say it, Steven can do it."

USA Yoga was formed by Rajashree Choudhury to fulfill her dream of bringing more yoga to the world's youth. With the goal of one day entering yoga in the Olympics, the USA Yoga organization and local grassroots collaboration have organized regional and national competitions all over the US and the World.

Yoga competition is growing in the USA and other countries. More and more competitors emerge each year and enthusiasm/support is

by Paul Feely

"SNITCH" FUN AND SUSPENSEFUL

"SNITCH" IS A NICE SURPRISE. Instead of the usual action movie mayhem, it is an honest exercise in filmmaking and a fun, suspenseful film that leads viewers to question current laws.

"SNITCH" GRADE: **

'Snitch' is a nice surprise. Instead of the usual action movie mayhem, 'Snitch' is an honest exercise in filmmaking - good, solid and functional.

The script is loosely based on a PBS Frontline documentary that explored a casualty of America's war on drugs: the practice of mandatory minimum sentencing. We see an otherwise straight-arrow teenager who makes a dumb mistake, accepts a FedExed package from a sort-of friend, then gets busted by the Drug Enforcement Administration for possession of a dealer's worth of ecstasy.

His sentence is 10 years, reducible only if he can "snitch" on someone else, preferably someone on a loftier rung of the drug hierarchy. The kid refuses, partly for ethical reasons and partly for practical ones - he really doesn't know anyone else.

Dwayne Johnson plays the boy's father, John, the owner of a construction company. He approaches the ambitious D.A. (Susan Sarandon) with an offer to hunt up some bad guys on his son's behalf.

If John works as an undercover informant and helps with the arrest of a big drug distributor, his son's sentence will be reduced to a year.

But the stakes get higher when John's undercover work leads him right to the heart of a drug cartel.

Beneath the action, family - the father-son relationship - is the central theme of this movie. Jason has been estranged from his father ever since his parents got a divorce and John started another family. But this crisis brings them closer together and, in a way, John seems to be making up for being an inattentive father by doing everything he can to get his son out of prison.

A side story also shows ex-con Daniel (Jon Bernthal), who works for John's construction company, trying to get out of the life he once led to give his son a chance at a better future.

Johnson gives a solid performance, and viewers will be on edge every time he enters the territory of the heavily armed drug dealers. Bernthal, too, is believable, with the struggle and stress of trying to turn his life around etched on his face. And Susan Sarandon, in the role of the federal prosecutor running for Congress, offers a cold and calculating performance that is a treat to watch.

'Snitch' is a fun, suspenseful action movie that leaves the viewers wondering whether some of the laws we have in place today are the best option.

"A GOOD DAY TO DIE HARD" GRADE: **

'The apple doesn't fall far from the tree appears to be the main idea behind A Good Day to Die Hard, the action-packed yet absurd new thriller that once again stars Bruce Willis as the wrong-place, wrong-time cop John McClane.

The laughs flow easily, as the 56-year-old Willis once again assumes the role of action hero, this time alongside Jai Courtney, a young Australian actor who plays prodigal son Jack to father John.

In this Die Hard, the two drive maniacally through Moscow traffic, escape inescapable situations, and blow away their adversaries with large and varied arsenals.

John Moore directed this latest incarnation from a script by Skip Woods, which finds John McClane traveling to Moscow when he learns his estranged son Jack is facing a murder charge. But tables turn, and immediately upon arrival, John hijacks a car to help his escaped son flee from a bombed courthouse while being pursued by an army of bad guys.

It's quickly revealed that Jack is a CIA agent out to thwart a nuclear threat. But more important than world safety is the rift between father and son.

On one level, you have to admire the brazenness of an action movie that acts like the Cold War never ended.

It's all more than a little silly, but Willis' presence at least provides undercurrents of easy humor. It's the same old gag - a regular dude just wants to live his life, if only villains would stop plotting mass destruction - but Willis winks his way through the story without wearing out his welcome.

Computer-generated imagery has made scenes possible that previously could only have been imagined, as helicopters ram into buildings, cars fly over lanes of freeways, and explosions send bodies flying, all resulting in only minor scrapes for the indestructible McClanes.

And that's where the film loses fans of the original. McClane appealed to so many in the first film because he came off as an everyman, thrust into an impossible situation, who could meet his maker at any moment. Now he's more like an indestructible superhero, emerging with barely any damage for almost any encounter.

Willis has said in recent interviews that there may be more installments in the series on the way. Fans should hope it returns to the original formula that birthed the franchise in the first place.

FARM TEAM AT BAT(WILMINGTON)

"The Yentile Farm Development Committee met ... to discuss the results of the survey filled out by Wilmington residents, which asked them what they would like to see the town do with the Yentile farmland on Cross Street," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"Residents had until January 31 to complete the survey."

"It's interesting. We can see some themes coming through very clearly," said Committee Chairman Judith O'Connell.

"According to Kendra Amaral, Assistant Town

Manager, the results showed that the majority of folks seemed to be interested in the land being used for mixed-use purposes. Approximately 65 percent of participants voted for the space to be available for a combination of athletic and non-athletic uses.

"One particular use that was popular among residents was a walking/jogging trail. Amaral noted that while people did express interest in other uses for the land, 'none of them seem to jump out as much as walking trails did.'"

"...Next steps for the project include presenting the survey results to the Board of Selectmen and potentially hiring a design firm to draft some conceptual ideas for land uses."

"As part of the budget proposal for Fiscal '14, I am recommending that we ask for $50,000 to hire a landscape firm that would first come in and develop some conceptual design options," said Town Manager Jeffrey Hull."

OF NOTE (BURLINGTON)

"The Board of Selectmen recently approved several notable agenda items at its ... meeting," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"A 5K Road Race Fundraiser in memory of Burlington resident Charles A. Doherty was unanimously approved by the Selectmen. Dan Doherty, Charles' brother, appeared in front of the board and briefly explained some of the background information..."

"...The plan is to have the race on Sunday, Sept. 15 and the Selectmen had no problems granting the request..."

"...The Selectmen then went on to unanimously approve the Easter Morning Sunrise Service for worship and message at the Burlington Common, which is sponsored by the Fellowship Bible Church on 71 Center Street."

"It was noted that this is an annual event for the church and all are invited to the breakfast that will be taking place at the church before the service at the Common..."

"The Selectmen also had to provide a vote and signature regarding the authorization of a sewer bond, which consists of $440,000 that approved by Town Meeting."

"Burlington's Treasurer and Tax Collector Brian Curtin stated that the bond is a no interest loan from the Massachusetts Water Resources Author (MWRA) as a grant of $198,000 was part of the warrant combined with the $242,000 needed to fulfill the $440,000.

"The $242,000 part of the sewer warrant will be paid in a 5-year period of installments of $48,400."

"It is a great deal for the town," said Curtin. "It is the eighth time we have gone through this with the MWRA."

"The Selectmen voted unanimously in favor of the finalization of the MWRA sewer bonds matter."

COMMUNITY PRESERVING (STONEHAM)

"Selectman John DePinto recently spoke out against ratifying the Community Preservation Act (CPA), arguing that the proposed tax increase violated town officials' promise two years ago not to raise taxes for a five-year period," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"During a recent meeting in Town Hall, DePinto urged his counterparts to take a stance on the CPA, which would enable local officials to levy a 1 to 3 percent surcharge on the assessed value of residential and commercial properties."

"Voters will decide whether to enact the CPA during upcoming municipal elections on April 2..."

Much discussion took places regarding the above.

TRIVIA:

Who is the youngest player ever inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame?
Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Sending a few of his top swimmers down to the UConn Husky Invitational to improve their qualifying times for the NCAA Division III Championships, Keene State Coach Jack Fabian couldn't be happier with the results on Saturday.

SOPHOMORE JULIE TRODDEN (READING, MASS.) not only improved her provisional time with her first place finish in the 1,650 free by three seconds (17:30.15), but also broke the school record with her split time of 10:28.34 at the 1,000-

Sophomore Diana Pimer (West Haven, Conn.) made a big drop with her first place performance in the 200 breast (2:21.82). Her time will put her in strong contention to qualify for the nationals. Pimer, who is undefeated in the event this season, broke the school record set by Jill Whitaker.
•Junior Antoinette Toussaint (Somerville, Mass.) scored 32 points and was named the Athlete of the Meet as the UMass Lowell women's indoor track and field team won its second straight Northeast-10 Conference championship night at the Reggie Lewis Track & Athletic Center.

The title was UMass Lowell's fourth in five years and eighth in the last 11. The indoor championship – UMass Lowell's last as an NCAA Division II school – was particularly meaningful for the River Hawks following Thursday announcement it will join Division I and America East effective July 1.

UMass Lowell compiled 216 points while American International College placed second with 119 points and Stonehill College (101) third. New Haven (96) and Southern Connecticut (67) rounded out the top five.

UMass Lowell crowned five champions and 13 All-Northeast-10 Conference honorees as the top two finishers in each event earned All-Conference status.

Toussaint captured the high jump, clearing 5 feet, 5.75 inches, currently 21st on the Division II list, and scored in four events. She also finished runner-up in the long jump (18' 5.0"), also an NCAA provisional mark) and the 500 meters (1:14.77).
Junior Elisabeth Monty (Charlton, Mass.) captured

two events to help the title cause. She won the 400 meter dash and provisionally qualified for the NCAA Championship with a time of 56.56 seconds, currently 22nd on the latest NCAA Division II list. She edged senior teammate Nicole Giaquinto (Winthrop, Mass.), who was the runner-up in 56.57 seconds.

Monty moved on to the 60 meter hurdles, which she won in 8.35 seconds and led two teammates in the top four places. Toussaint placed third in 8.96 seconds and JUNIOR STEPHANIE WALKER (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) fourth in 9.18.

Senior Shannon Cunningham (Foxboro, Mass.) captured the 500 meters and set a NE-10 record with a time of 1:14.55, just ahead of Toussaint. Sophomore Alexis Kitsakos (Merrimac, Mass.) placed fifth in 1:18.26 and sophomore Shaniece Cola (Lowell, Mass.) sixth in 1:18.96.

Senior Robyn Ciriello (Salem, N.H.) placed sixth with a throw of 36'5.0" while SOPHOMORE KYLA HIGGINS (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) took eighth (35' 6.0"). Higgins also placed fifth in the weight throw (43' 6.5").

Broccoli Casserole

For some of us, a holiday dinner wouldn't be complete without the standard green bean casserole.

The creamy bake of green beans, condensed soup, and crunchy onion topping is certainly a crowd pleaser. But there are times when we cooks like to make little changes to the menu to keep ourselves interested in the work we are doing in the kitchen.

If that's the case for you this year, take a look at this recipe for Broccoli Bake. Here Jane Ward makes a minor tweak to that favorite green bean dish by simply switching the vegetable. By using broccoli instead of green beans, you can throw a little change into your holiday dinner while at the same time, staying safely within the family's comfort zone. Just like the green beans, though, the casserole bakes up nice and creamy and the toasted bread crumbs yield that desired crunch.

Ingredients

- 1 can condensed Cream of Celery Soup
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon Dijon or spicy brown mustard
- ground black pepper
- (2) 10-ounce packages frozen broccoli cuts or spears, thawed and drained
- fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 Tbsp. soft butter

INSTRUCTIONS

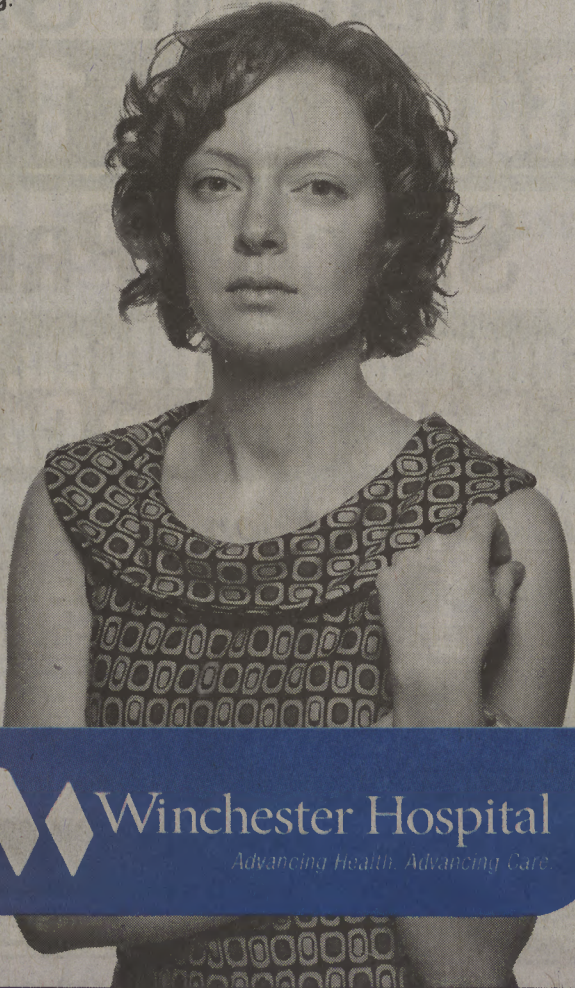

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Butter a 9-inch baking dish and set aside. Pat the thawed broccoli dry. Chop the spears into bite size pieces, if using spears, and place the broccoli in the casserole dish.

In a medium bowl, stir together the soup, milk, and freshly ground black pepper to taste, about 1/8 tsp. Pour the creamy sauce over the broccoli. Sprinkle 2-4 tablespoons of dry bread crumbs over the top. Dot the top of the casserole all over with soft butter.

Place the baking dish in the preheated oven and bake for 30-40 minutes, or until the casserole is hot and bubbling and the top is golden brown.

increasing. However, there is a significant group of people who are put off by the idea of competition in yoga. They believe that yoga should be spiritual and non-competitive. If you fall into this category, take a moment to ponder the benefits of competitive yoga. "For one, yoga competition inspires more people to practice yoga," said Phan. "Each competition has an audience, many of whom have never practiced yoga before. By watching the well polished technique of the athletes on stage, audience members become curious about yoga and inspired to try it. Practicing yoga is a path to better health. So, the more people that practice, the more people enter that path, and the better they will feel. Any event that can inspire people to begin practicing yoga is a good thing because of yoga's ability to increase the health of the population."

The United States Yoga Federation on March 1-3 will host the 2013 New York Regional & National Asana Championships, 2013 marks the 10th anniversary of the championship; and the 2nd consecutive year it's being held at the historic Hudson Theatre in New York City.

This Friday, March 1st, 30 finalists from New York state will compete in the last regional event in the year, qualifying the top 2 Mens and Women's finalists to move on to the National semi-finals. On Saturday, March 2nd, 132 yogis from around the country will compete in an all day semi-final event, and the weekend will conclude with the Youth and Adult Division finals on Sunday, March 3rd.

and an open link to the dining room. The eating bar that rims one edge is handy for meals on the run, homework supervision, and keeping folks who just want to chat out from underfoot.

Lazy Susan shelving makes the corner shelves entirely accessible, and a walk-in pantry is just around the corner. Laundry appliances, too, are mere steps away in a large pass-through room that connects to the garage. The utility room can also serve as a mudroom.

A huge walk-in closet and luxurious bathroom expand the Carrington's owners' suite. An alcove there can hold either a built-in dresser, or another of the owners' choice.

Upper bedrooms share a two-section bathroom, and a loft that could be outfitted as a study area or hobby space. A large bonus room, plus plenty of attic storage space, is over the garage.

This Week's Sampler: The Carrington

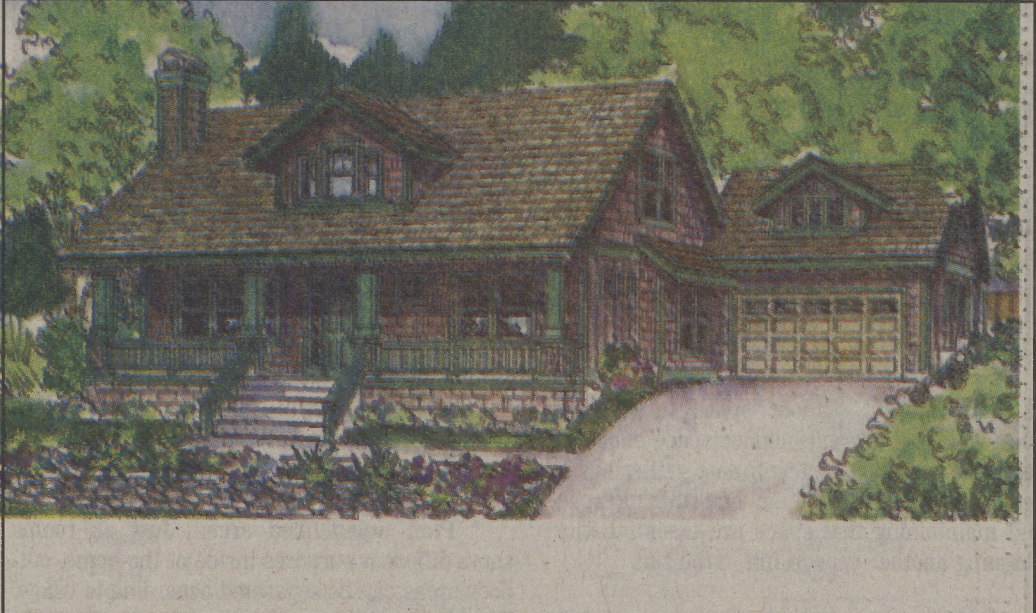

Craftsman Carrington is impressive yet unpretentious

Textural variety melds with Craftsman styling to give the Carrington a pleasing yet unpretentious front facade. Shingles and foundation materials are slightly rough, while windows, doors, columns and railings are smooth and sleek. Fairly similar gables on the house and garage add to the visual appeal, and the full front porch has a welcoming appearance.

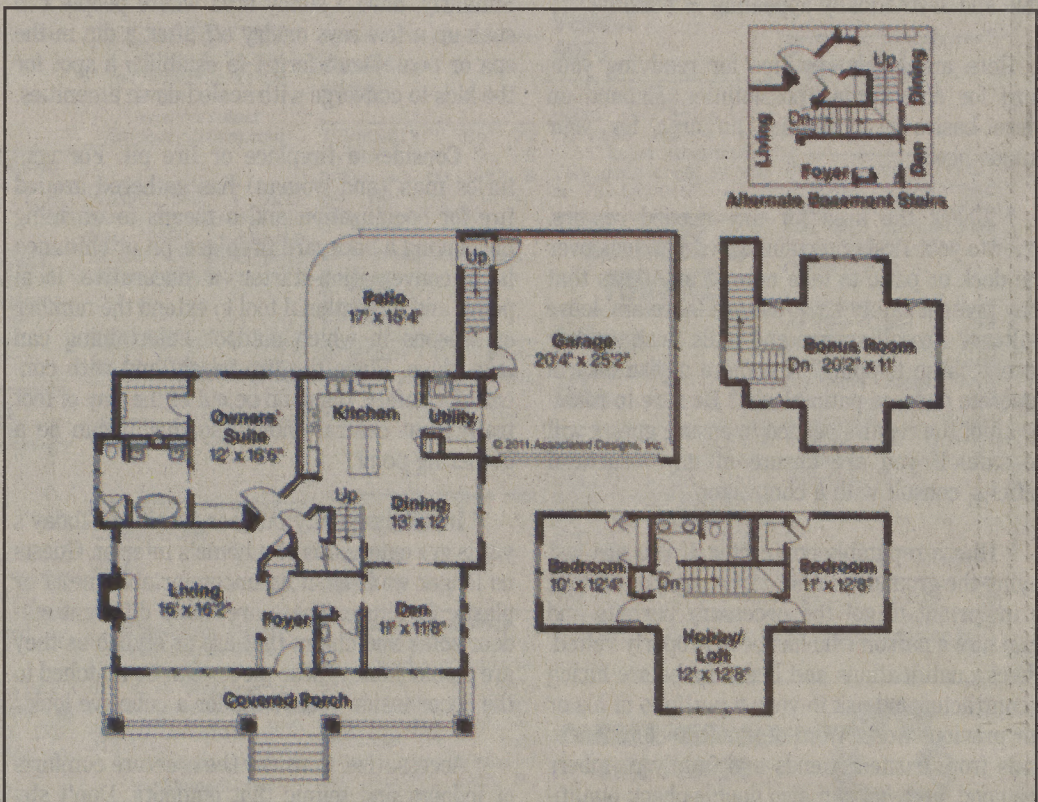

Entering, you step into a wide foyer brightened by side-lights and a row of small windows high on the door. The right hand hallway leads to the den and dining room.

Decorative columns on the left mark the wide passage-way into a living room with a fireplace flanked by Craftsman windows. Another walkway, at the rear of the room, leads to the owners' suite, stairs, and kitchen.

And a spacious, well-equipped kitchen it is, with a large work island at center

ITS FULL, WOODEN-RAILED FRONT PORCH GIVES A WELCOMING APPEARANCE to this updated craftsman home plan. A raised eating bar rims one edge of the work island in the spacious, up-to-date kitchen. The owners' suite boasts a roomy bathroom and walk-in closet. Two bedrooms, a bathroom, loft and good-sized bonus room are upstairs.
